BRITISH BLAST BERLIN CENTER

POWDER PLANT BLAST CLAIMS 100 CASUALTIES

HOSPITAL FILLED

All Telephone Circuits at Dover, N. J., Used to Call Ambulances.

DOVER, N. J.—Observers said "at least 100" casualties were brought to Dover General hospital this afternoon after explosions destroyed two buildings at the Hercules powder plant at Kenvil, five miles away.

Hospital attendants said the casualties were so numerous "we can't keep track of them."

Reports from Kenvil said fire had broken out at the plant and was raging so fiercely that firemen could not combat it.

Calls for ambulances and first aid squads were telephoned throughout the area in which the plant is situated.

The blast, which occurred at 12.35 p. m. EST, shook the entire vicinity of the factory.

The supervisor of the Dover, N. J. telephone exchange said all circuits were being used to call ambulances.

The chief of police at Dover said all available fire fighting apparatus also was being rushed to the plant.

Police did not learn immediately how badly the plant was damaged or how many persons had been injured.

Kenvil is about 25 miles west of Paterson, N. J., and 45 miles north of Trenton.

Houses in Dover, about five miles from Kenvil, were rocked by the blast.

Residents there said there were two explosions close together.

State police at the Morristown and Netcong barracks sent troopers. A number of persons, some of them critically injured, were taken from the plant to the Dover General hospital.

Kenvil is a community of 1,500. The Hercules factory employs about 1,200 persons, having increased its personnel recently.

The company had been working on government orders for smoke-

KILLS TEACHER

Rejected Suitor Runs Amuck With Gun in Schoolroom.

UNIONTOWN, Pa.—(AP)—Calling at the classroom of a pretty, brunette school teacher he had courted for a year, a 35-year-old coal miner killed her and turned his gun on himself because she told him their friendship was "off," State Policeman Walter Heuer said today.

A dozen horrified pupils jumped out the first floor windows, others screamed and huddled in corners as the man's revolver blazed yesterday. The teacher, Carolyn Dellamea, 29, shot twice in the chest, fell to the floor dead.

The miner identified by Heuer as William Kuhns, collapsed with a bullet in the chest. His condition was reported critical.

FLAG TROUBLE

Jehovah Witnesses' Children Refuse to Salute.

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — School officials in nearby Liberty township today are seeking permission to oust 10 children who refuse to salute the American flag.

The children's parents who are members of Jehovah's Witnesses religious sect, have told the township schoolmen that it was against their religious beliefs to salute the flag and they could not permit their children to do it.

HOTEL BURNS

Norman Thomas and Other Guests Escape.

BILLINGS, Mont.—(AP)—Fire destroyed the $600,000 Northern hotel last night, but Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, and 75 other guests escaped unharmed.

The fire, of undetermined origin, broke out in the midtown hotel basement and within three hours shot flames 50 feet above the dome of the four-story structure. Two walls collapsed.

Potato Bug Invasion Charged

BERLIN —(AP)— Authorized German sources charged today that British airmen are throwing bags of "Colorado potato bugs" into potato fields in Germany, Luxembourg and Belgium in an effort to lay waste the major food source of those countries.

These sources said the bugs multiply rapidly and are hard to control. They cited this alleged form of attack as another "example of British unfairness."

LONDON —(AP)— Authoritative British circles said today there is no truth in a German declaration that British fliers are dropping bags of Colorado potato beetles on Germany's fields.

RULES OUT 9 OF 58 NAMES ON RED PETITIONS

Election Board Holds Some Signatures Were Those of Persons Not Registered.

Nine of the 58 signatures on two Communist party petitions circulated in Richland county had been ruled out today by the county board of elections because the signers were not registered voters.

Four of 12 signatures on one petition were illegal, while the board ruled out five of 46 names on the other petition.

Board clerks said the petitions will be returned immediately to the secretary of state where the signatures of signers who protested to election officials before the deadline last week will be removed.

A number of the signers complained that the Communist petitions were misrepresented to them as favoring bigger old age pensions and the Bigelow pension plan.

Prosecutor G. W. Marriott said today he was continuing his investigation of the alleged misrepresentation, but he declined to comment on the steps he was taking.

The prosecutor learned yesterday from the secretary of state that M. J. Beery, Mansfield, who circulated one of the Communist petitions could legally carry the petitions although he is a registered Democratic voter. Marriott asked for a ruling on that point.

Wife of 'Boiler Kid' In Hospital Awaiting 'Bundle'

CHICAGO —(U.P.)— Mrs. Frederick B. Snite, jr., wife of the "Boiler Kid" who has lived four years in an "iron lung" respirator, entered the lying-in hospital yesterday in anticipation of the birth of a baby, the hospital said today.

The famous infantile paralysis victim announced last May in his mimeographed gossip sheet that "the two-legged bird is expected by Freddie and Tessie in September."

Snite and his wife, the former Teresa Larkin, 27, of Dayton O., were married Aug. 10, 1939, after a secret courtship of more than two years. The ceremony was performed with the bride standing beside Snite's iron lung.

Doctors said there was no reason why their baby should not be perfectly normal.

They Get Jump On Tomorrow's Jinxes

Did you know that knocking on wood for luck dates back to an ancient superstition that it was propitious to knock on a wooden cross? Miss Kay Glessner, 37 Highland avenue demonstrates the old belief at left in the upper photo. With her is Miss Jean Horchler, Lexington avenue road, who is defying seven years bad luck by holding a broken mirror. In the lower photo, Miss Josephine Hughes, 42 Sherman avenue, mocks a pair of jinxes by carrying a black cat as she walks under a ladder.

TRUCKER GETS MAXIMUM FINE

Driver Whose Vehicle Struck School Bus, Injuring Nine Pupils, in Court.

Edward Bielen, 24, Mosinee, Wis., driver of the truck which crashed into a school bus near Shenandoah Friday night, injuring nine pupils, was fined $100 and costs today in common pleas court by Judge C. H. Huston for reckless driving.

The fine is the maximum permitted under the state law on a reckless driving count. Bielen pleaded guilty when arraigned Thursday. The charge was filed by State Highway Patrolman W. C. Smith.

Judge Huston said he had planned to fine Bielen only $50, but decided on the maximum after he learned Bielen had misrepresented the number of hours of rest he had had during the 24 hours preceding the accident.

Bielen admitted today that he had rested only a brief time enroute from Chicago to Ohio, although he indicated in his trucker's log book that he had slept the required number of hours.

Officers attributed the accident to Bielen's fatigue and believe he went to sleep. Bielen denied that he was asleep when his truck hit the school bus.

Costs in the case amounted to $4.75. Bielen was returned to the county jail after he was fined, but he said he would obtain money for paying the fine and costs from his employer in Chicago.

PUBLIC ORDER APPEAL ISSUED

BUCHAREST — (INS) — General Ion Antonescu, chief of Rumania's new dictatorial government, issued a new, urgent appeal today for maintenance of public order.

"Disorders will lead to slavery and ruin," Antonescu declared.

(Editor's note: A Reuters dispatch from Bucharest said the situation in some cities and sections of Rumania was "bordering on anarchy.")

Put on Left Shoe First Tomorrow, It's the 13th

Mansfielders Have a Lot of Superstitions, Including Some That Friday May Even Be Lucky Day!

By KEN WOODMAN

When you get out of bed tomorrow morning put your left shoe on first. If you get an article of clothing on backwards or wrong side out, leave it that way. And don't go back to the house after you've said goodbye even if you forgot to kiss the wife. . . .

Because tomorrow's Friday the 13th and you know what that means. Just about everything can go wrong, unless, of course, you're like Mrs. Paul Deibner, 234 Park avenue west, who insists that Friday the 13th is her lucky day.

"In fact," Mrs. Deibner says, "all odd numbers are lucky for me. A fortune-teller pointed that fact out to me one time and I've noticed that my luck really runs that way."

That kind of luck seems to run in Mrs. Deibner's family, too. She says thirteen has always been a good luck number for her father, John B. Kirkpatrick, Shelby.

"But he won't sit down at table with 13 persons," she says, "and you figure that out!"

Down at Paul Shumaker's drug store on Park avenue west it's going to be just too bad for any clerk who has the misfortune to

STEAMER SUNK

Former U. S. Lines Ship Reported Hit By Torpedo.

NEW YORK (AP) The steamship Ville De Mons, 7340 tons formerly the American Shipper of the United States lines, has been torpedoed and sunk off the British Isles. The U. S. lines made the announcement.

Holds Newville 'Obliterated' and Doesn't Need Gas

The tiny hamlet of Newville in southeastern Richland county, which has been "obliterated," doesn't need gas service any longer, so the Ohio Fuel Gas company had been authorized today to cancel its contract for service to the village.

When the secretary of the Ohio utilities commission wrote the entry authorizing cancellation of the contract into his books, he said: "This community has been obliterated by the Muskingum conservancy project."

Newville was razed before the Pleasant Hill dam was built so the village wouldn't be flooded by backwaters.

EXPAND CAMPS

Army Gives Contracts, Prepares To Welcome Draft Men.

WASHINGTON (AP) The army, moving swiftly after it revealed that it would undertake a $70,000,000 camp expansion program to accommodate conscripts today awarded $16,000,000 worth of contracts, including a $5,140,122 award for building a tent camp and utilities at Camp Savannah, Ga.

NAZIS REPORT 40 KILLED IN BRITISH RAIDS

'Fires and Damage' Caused In Berlin, Bremen and Hamburg Attacks.

REPRISALS CLAIMED

Say Airplane Factory Hit By German Bombers at Southampton.

(By United Press)

BERLIN—At least 40 persons were killed and 40 injured in the British air raids last night on Berlin, Hamburg and Bremen which caused "numerous fires and damage to homes and workers' colonies," the high command said today.

In a communique the high command said that "German bomber, pursuit and destroyer squadrons continued reprisal attacks against London, day and night," scoring hits on docks, harbor works, gas and electricity plants, one power and one arms factory, "causing bright fires."

The high command said that yesterday in addition to bombing London the German air force attacking an airplane factory at Southampton, destroying six hangars, and oil depots at Port Victoria.

A communique also said that night attacks had been directed against Liverpool and other west and south coast harbors.

"German bombers hurled themselves upon a convoy in the Thames estuary and set fire to one destroyer and four merchant ships and scored hits on two other merchant ships," the high command said.

It claimed that 80 British planes were destroyed yesterday. It was said that only 20 German planes were missing.

The communique said that a U-boat sank 40,000 tons of shipping from convoys during one voyage and that another submarine sank a 7,000 ton armed British merchant ship from a convoy.

British attacks on Berlin, Hamburg and Bremen marked the third straight night of intensfied attacks on the capital and big provincial cities.

It was charged that residential sections of Hamburg and Bremen, two of the great ports of the country, were bombed and that numerous civilians were wounded or killed.

Fires were caused in both

TIDES RIGHT

Moon and Waves Favor Hitler Invasion Next Week.

LONDON—(AP)—The moon and tide will be in Adolf Hitler's favor for several days running next week if he should decide to try to invade England.

Authoritative sources, basing their predictions on the nautical almanac, said the highest tide for the period is scheduled for 1:03 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 18, induced by a full moon Monday.

Wednesday's high tide at Dover is expected to reach 18 feet, 6 inches, compared with a low of 11 feet.

A four-foot difference, these sources remarked, "makes an awful lot of difference." It would, for example, enable some boats to get perhaps a quarter of a mile closer to shore.

Repeated Blows Hurled at Nazi Capital By RAF

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—London had its first air raid warning of the day at 4:39 p. m. (10:39 a. m. EST). Observers could see German warplanes flying high. Anti-aircraft guns opened up as the Germans came over in great waves. A short time later there was a lull in the shooting, suggesting that the planes had turned aside. The all clear sounded at 5:41 p. m. (11:41 a. m. EST).

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Britain struck repeated blows at Germany to ward off imminent invasion today, aiming blasting air attacks at railway stations and yards in the heart of Berlin and the Templehof airdrome, while London's defenders beat off with a "blitz barrage" hundreds of Nazi warplanes which struck in the night with the heaviest attack of the war.

Anhalter railway station and yards and other yards near Potsdam station were lighted by flares and then straddled by heavy explosives, the air ministry said.

Anti-aircraft batteries in Berlin's Tiergarten, only a stone's throw from German government buildings, were silenced by salvos of bombs.

Another raider dropped explosive and incendiary bombs over Templehof airdrome, Berlin's main airport, the air ministry said.

Britons hailed as a great victory the repelling of the night attack on London, which apparently was attempted by the greatest force yet sent against the city.

Apparently inspired by German threats to dump 10,000 plane-loads of explosives on the London area, the city's anti-aircraft batteries threw up the screen of fire around the capital in a new tactic. Although the Nazis attacked again and again over a period of nine hours, only about 20 bombs exploded in the center of the city.

A government communique said the barrage had prevented many bombers from reaching their objectives and said the raid had proved "less effective" than those on the four preceding nights.

The communique said fires had been started in a number of buildings by incendiary bombs and reported that "two hospitals, many houses and some small factories" were damaged. It said, however, a great number of incendiary bombs were extinguished by air raid wardens before they could start fires.

The government said "it is probable" the number of killed and injured was less than on the four previous nights of dusk-to-dawn raiding.

Seven bombs fell about 100 yards from the entrance to a famous London prison, but no damage was reported.

PARKING METER TYPE UNDECIDED

City Officials Study Devices For 2 Hours, Vote Shows Difference in Opinion.

City officials and the head of the citizens' committee on traffic met yesterday and discussed parking meters for more than two hours but apparently didn't decide on which type the city should lease.

Mayor William J. Locke said yesterday that he had summoned the officials to hear their opinions and decide "once and for all" the type of machine to be installed in downtown Mansfield for a nine months trial period.

Locke however was out of his office this morning and several attempts to reach him by telephone failed. Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton declined to comment on what, if any, action was taken at the session.

It was learned however that a vote had been taken among those attending the session.

Locke stated yesterday that he favored one of the lower priced meters. He recommended the installation of a manually operated machine.

The mayor, it was learned, declined to vote on the type of meter to be leased after three of the officials at the meeting had cast votes favoring an automatic meter.

From those attending the meeting, it was learned that three votes were cast for automatic

POCKETS EMPTY

Scion of Harriman Family Plunges to Death.

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) —With 73 cents in the pockets of his crumpled blue suit, Borden Harriman, 34, member of a prominent family and nephew of the minister to Norway, died in an eight-story plunge from his room in the central Y. M. C. A. late yesterday.

Also in the room was a letter from Harriman's mother, Mrs. Grace Harriman of New York, that read:

"I have no money to send you. Suggest that you come home."

REFUSE STAND

Anti-Third Term Resolution Is Tabled By Lawyers.

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The American Bar association today rejected an anti-third term resolution calling for a constitutional amendment limiting tenure of the presidency of the United States to one period of six years.

This and other resolutions dealing with the same subject were tabled by the association at an assembly of all delegates to its 63rd annual convention. The vote was 217 to 126.

Let The Furnace Fire Die, Summer's Due Back Tonight

Shivering Mansfielders can put away their extra blankets and let the furnace fire go out tomorrow if the weatherman's forecast of warmer weather materializes.

The mercury skidded to 31 degrees, only two above freezing, in Mansfield last night and there was light frost for the second consecutive night. Damage to crops, however, was believed slight.

Last night's reading was the lowest of the season in Mansfield and one of the lowest in the nation. Average reading for the past 24 hours was only 55.5 degrees, 13 degrees below normal.

By noon today, the temperature had climbed to 57 to equal yesterday's high. Overcast skies kept the mercury down and there was a rise of only four degrees from 9 a. m. to noon.

All of Ohio got a taste of the weather that's just ahead and topcoats were popular everywhere. Cincinnati, with a reading of 44 degrees today, had the chilliest Sept. 12 in 23 years. It was 48 in Cleveland and Columbus. Akron had 43.

Weather forecasters said the cold would spread to the Atlantic coast by tonight and an area of higher temperatures will move into Ohio from the west. Most of the nation was cool today, however, with only the extreme southern cities reporting readings of 80 degrees or more.

DISCARD BOWS FOR TOMMY GUN

Red Men Doff War Paint and Don Khaki In Army War Maneuvers.

CAMP BEAUREGARD, La.—(INS)—The red man has discarded his bow and arrow for a "tommy" gun, substituted khaki for war paint and answered the Great White Father's call to arms.

Representatives of 28 Indian tribes, descendants of the first American militia, were among the troops assembled for the recent Third Army maneuvers in the Sabine River area.

The Indians adapted themselves to modern military tactics as well as any group of soldiers, according to officers, but they have certain racial characteristics which often stood them in good stead.

They are rough, tough and indefatigable. Sickness apparently doesn't bother them. Their physiques are marvels. As scouts they know no peers.

In company C of the 180th Infantry, founded in 1924 at Chilocco, Okla., there were 83 men, 81 of whom are Indians. This unit participated in countless hikes and maneuvers, but not a man dropped out because of fatigue or illness, a record few companies can match.

Adhere To Old Customs.

The Indians, most of whom were members of the various divisions of the Oklahoma national guard, still clung to many of their ancient customs.

They played "Indian ball," a strictly red man combination of lacrosse and football; they used their ancient blow guns in target practice; they spent idle moments in recounting legends of tribal migrations, hardships and wars. One group, the Cherokees, frequently performed a dance known as the "trail of tears."

Officers, in training the Indians, related a World War incident in which the Germans were intercepting and decoding certain American messages.

Indian troops were placed in the vulnerable sector and, transmitting messages in their native tongues, completely baffled the Germans.

Army brasshats do not doubt that racial and lingual traits of the Indians will land them in a key place in future defense plans.

MANSFIELD
Keeps Up With The Times

Mansfield High School authorities now make it possible for thousands of store and office employes and hundreds of professional men to see Mansfield High's grand football team in action. Formerly, only too few of the many who wanted to see the games could get out on Saturday afternoons.

Tomorrow night our Tygers open, under a brilliant lighting system that is the last word in scientific engineering—a modern football plant that compares favorably with any High School in the state—that is far ahead of schools with older lighting systems.

But let's don't go out to see the lights! Let's go out to see the Tygers!—tomorrow night and all the other games, too! They're our team—they have a tough schedule — and they need our help. Let's go out and cheer 'em on.

Electrical Engineers Develop New Lighting Methods To Meet New Lighting Problems

Hundreds of stadia lighting plants installed throughout the country have been, in themselves, experimental and progressive steps toward the ultimate achievement represented by Mansfield High's new stadium lighting equipment now ready for use.

Along the way, the myriad problems incident to the major task have appeared and have been disposed of. Answers have been found to the perplexities of shadows, light power losses, and conflict with vision of players and fans alike. The result in light is an average level of 36 foot candles of light on every portion of the field—the variance in light between one location and another on the field is less than ½ of one foot candle. The light is more brilliant than customary reading light and its source, batteries of eighty-four 1500 Watt bulbs, individually focused and mounted high on 6 structural steel towers, is far above the vision range of players and fans watching the action on the field of play. Total consumption of electric current will be about 378 Kilowatts per game, at a cost of only about $12.00. The new lighting system was purchased by the Senior High School Athletic Association, and will be maintained by the association funds.

CHAPTER XVI

She had failed. Failed! The plots and schemes, the pretenses were nothing and it seemed to Edwina that she stood, not in a quiet, beautiful room, but with wreckage and ruin and shame and defeat. What an unholy mess she had made of her life, she who had had everything! She had failed with Alan, with her father and Norman, and it seemed to her, too, that the house she had cherished above all else had become a sepulchre, a place of broken dreams and broken loves and broken lives . . .

And all at once she knew what she must do. It was the last thing left to do. Her face drawn, her eyes tired and vacant, Edwina glanced around the room, thinking that she would never see it like this again. To the remarkable likeness of Patrick Burke, his blue eyes twinkling, his round cheeks glowing with health and vigor, she said, "Forgive me, but I can't see ahead of me any more, Dad. And I haven't slept for so long, really slept, that I want to go to sleep and not wake up again. Don't mind too much! Please don't mind too much because I'm going to take the life you gave me and because I'm going to destroy the things you loved because I can't bear for any one else to have them . . ."

She would not wait. She would not plan. To wait and plan would mean more nights of sleeplessness and more self-scrutiny and accusations. No, now! The countryside slept and Sam and Mary, the caretakers who lived in the cottage over the hill, would know nothing until morning. She gave only brief thought to them, knowing that her father had provided for them as long as they lived. And there was no one else . . .

Her mouth twisted. Of the thousands of people she had met, there was no one who would be intimately concerned or even very sorry. They would say, "Wasn't it dreadful what happened to Edwina Burke?" and forget it quite soon. On second thought she knew that Norman, who was the best friend she had ever had, would be disturbed for a time . . . and also Amy . . . What would Alan think?

No notes of farewell, no apologies, she thought, walking slowly to the teakwood table and picking up a silver cigaret lighter. When the flame sprang to life, she watched it a moment, glanced about her again, wondering where to begin, and when her eyes fell on the rich green draperies between the drawing room and the hall, she advanced toward them, the flame flickering as her body moved.

She watched, with the fascination of one charmed, the flames eating upward.

* * *

Edwina was still standing there, a rigid figure in white, when Norman came back, entering the house by way of the door that opened out to the terrace. For a second he stopped still, his eyes disbelieving what he saw, and then, his brain clearing, he ran to her, thrust her aside and with a quick jerk tore down the flaming draperies and smothered them with a small scatter rug.

Edwina, standing where he had pushed her, was trembling violently when he went to her.

"Edwina, why did you do it? Not because of me! You didn't want to burn down the house because of me! Then why did you do it?"

"Why did you come back? Oh, why did you come back? Why didn't you let me go through with it? You've just postponed it. I'll do it again. I am going through with it!"

"Not if I stop you." Speaking more gently, he said, "You're coming home with me. You don't know what you're doing, Edwina. You're terribly upset. I came back because I was uneasy about you. I had a premonition that something was wrong. It's been a mad sort of night. Come home with me. We'll talk it out or not, as you wish."

"What's the use?" she shook her dark hair loose. "Oh, why did you come back? I don't want to talk it out. I don't want anything. I'm tired of talking and waiting and planning. If you hadn't come back, the whole horrible business would have been over in a few hours. Can't you understand that I want it over? I'm not going with you."

"You're going, if I have to carry you."

He took her hand and pulled her, and outside she walked unaided to his car. Afraid that she would jump from the car as he drove quickly home, he held her hand firmly until he stopped before the stone house.

Going in, she was conscious of the comfort of the masculine living room with the pine panelled walls, and as one either blind or drunk she felt her way to the low green divan and fell upon it. Closing her eyes, she saw the flames devouring the green draperies and when she opened them, Norman was standing over her with brandy in a glass.

"Thanks, but you're wasting your time," she said, the brandy stinging her throat. Norman pulled a footstool close to the divan, sat down and leaned forward as she continued, "I'm not in love with you. Never have been. I want you to know that first. I wanted to marry you for your money, Norman, because you're the only man I know with money enough to — to save the house. I'm broke. I haven't had any money for a year."

"You poor kid. Why didn't you tell me? You know I'd have let you have money, Edwina!"

"Borrow? That's all I've done. Borrow and sell my clothes and my jewelry. The house was next. I couldn't meet the next tax bill and the fire insurance has lapsed. Don't you see — I couldn't bear for any one else to have it?" As she pushed back her hair, she smiled faintly. "You're a funny guy, darling. I tell you I've been lying and scheming to get your money and you aren't even angry . . ."

* * *

He smiled back, chuckling. "You scared me out of it. No, I'm not angry and you weren't lying and scheming all the time. You were enjoying yourself as much as I was. That's true, isn't it?"

"You're the best friend I've ever had—you and Amy. I used to think I had a lot of friends, that I was the most popular girl in the world. But I've really only two, you and Amy. It's no use, Norman. I've worn out every desire and reason to live. I've made a mess of everything. And I'm so tired I want to die so I can sleep."

"You're going to take a nice long normal sleep. When I went for the brandy, I called Miss Durfee. She sprang awake like an alarm clock. I asked her to come out to your place and spend what's left of the night. She said she'd come and she didn't ask any questions."

"She knows. She's the only person who does, except you now. I told her I was going to marry you for your money." She had told Carol that she was going to marry Norman, she thought.

He got up and went to look for cigarets. Edwina took hers with a trembling hand. Standing beside the fireplace with one arm resting on the stone mantelpiece, he smoked thoughtfully a few moments before he spoke.

"You haven't worn out every desire and reason to live, Edwina. You've simply lost your grip temporarily. I'm not going to be a male Pollyanna and make the blue birds sing for you. You're too smart, too much of a realist for that.

"You feel tired and finished because you've lived too fast. You're twenty-three and you've packed more living, more excitement into these years than most women do in a lifetime. Stop to think . . . Most girls your age are just coming out of college or been out a year or so.

"And the house! Good lord, can't you see that you've been selfish about it? The books belong in the Newton public library and the valuable pieces of furniture and pictures belong in the museum here. Give them where they'll be enjoyed by other people! Don't hoard them! That's your answer, Edwina. Then sell the house, clean up your debts and start all over again, free and young and healthy.

"What can stop you? It's a swell set-up. There's a challenge to earning your living that you don't get in anything else. Can't your pride take it? Don't you want any one to know you're broke? Giving away the fine things in this house would be one of the finest things you could do. People would stop thinking of you as a spoiled, reckless glamour girl and start thinking of you as a generous young woman who made it possible for them to read fine books and see beautiful furniture and pictures. Take your choice . . ."

"You make it sound very simple. But it isn't as simple as that."

"It is! And I'll help you. I'll love doing something. This idleness is driving me crazy. I'll give you a part-time typing job in my office in New York and in your free time you can take courses in anything that interests you. You're too clever, too vital to — to give up. You can't. It isn't sporting. There's a challenge in every new day."

* * *

He smiled. "Well, shall I write you out a new lease on life and present it to you, or shall I go back and help you make a thorough job of destroying the house and you?"

She lay back and looked at him, her eyes slowly believing in the things he was saying. A twisted road was straightening; locked doors were opening. She held out a hand to him and he went to her and took it.

Both boys received scholarships from the college. Bud is head drum major in the band and he will have his brother Dick as his assistant in this work this year. Both served as drum major of the Crestline high school band during their respective high school careers.

'DON'T COLLECT' LISTS ISSUED

Garbage Department Officials Clamp Down on Delinquents.

City garbage truck drivers today were equipped with lists of approximately 400 residents with unpaid garbage collection bills and were under orders to refrain from collections at the homes of delinquent clients.

At city building garbage department officials said payments on delinquent bills had been coming in slowly but they expected a pickup in overdue collections with the stoppage of service.

The bills must be paid a day in advance of the garbage collection date for the names to be removed from the delinquent lists officials said.

SEWING CHAMP PREFERS PIGS

LA UNION, N. M.—(U.P.)—"I'd rather raise Poland China pigs than sew!"

Young Miss Virginia Bogart spoke, and the statement might not have been so unusual had it not been for the fact that the farm girl had just been presented with first prize in an all-cotton dress making contest at the Southwestern Irrigated Cotton Growers Association.

Her sex makes no difference to her liking of animal husbandry. In a further display of her versatility, she won second prize in the New Mexico State high school cooking contest last year.

NO HOLIDAY

HARTFORD, Conn.—(INS)—Although Columbus day is a legal holiday in Connecticut, selectmen and town clerks in the state must hold sessions on October 12 for the admission of new voters.

This was the recent ruling of State Attorney General Francis A. Pallotti. He pointed out that the statutes specifically designated the fourth Saturday before election day as the one on which new voters must be examined.

FAILURE CAUSE

Official Says Poor Health Conditions to Blame.

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(U.P.)—Dr. J. N. Baker, Alabama state health officer, believes that improper health conditions are a vital factor in causing students to fail in school.

In a special report, he said that such conditions were "one of the important causes" why 40 per cent of all Alabama first-grade pupils are repeaters.

Other causes he listed as inadequately trained teachers, lack of textbooks and shortened school terms.

Pointing out that absence from school retards learning, Dr. Baker said that "a very large percentage of total absentees charged to the average pupil, would, if investigated, be shown to be due to ill health of one kind or another."

ISSUES ADVANCE TODAY IN SLOW 'FEELER' MOVE

Traders Find Price Levels Inclined Upwards; Steels In Rising Group.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks advanced fractions to around a point today in a slow, "feeler" movement.

Traders, apparently recovering from the pessimism induced by Prime Minister Churchill's speech in the previous session, experimented with price levels and found them inclined upward.

On the rising side were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Republic Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Martin, Sperry, Westinghouse, N. Y. Central, Sears Roebuck and International Nickel.

Bonds and commodities pointed a bit higher, but in irregular fashion.

Of leading interest in the day's gust of domestic industrial news were Ford's plans to build an $11,000,000 aircraft engine plant, Chrysler's $20,000,000 tank plant and the steel industry's $10,000,000 plant expansion for the production of heavy forgings and armor plate.

PAM—That Bag.

By A. W. Brewerton

GORDON'S MANNER BECAME VERY SERIOUS AS HE BEGAN TO TALK.
PAM, I KNOW I CAN TRUST YOU NOT TO REPEAT WHAT I AM ABOUT TO TELL YOU-- IT CONCERNS A VERY GRAVE THREAT TO THIS COUNTRY - OUR CRITICAL NATIONAL DEFENSE PLANS! THIS MAN YOU CARRIED TO A HOSPITAL HAD FUNDS FOR A MOST DANGEROUS -- 9-12
---GANG OF SPIES! I HAD BEEN TRAILING HIM, EXPECTING THE PAY-OFF TO TAKE PLACE IN ANOTHER CITY! - HE SLIPPED AWAY FROM US, AND WAS SPOTTED BY OUR MEN AT AN AIRPORT HERE, BUT ESCAPED, ALTHOUGH FIRED UPON AND WOUNDED. I HAD HOPED, BY TRAILING HIM, TO LEARN THE IDENTITY OF, AND ROUND UP THE ENTIRE GANG ---
---IF I COULD ONLY LOCATE THAT BAG IT MIGHT NOT BE TOO LATE YET! - HE HAD A BAG, CONTAINING MONEY TO PAY THE WORKERS, BUT--- DAVID! I KNOW SOMETHING ABOUT THAT BAG - THAT'S WHY I CALLED LIEUTENANT RAND TO -- WHAT!
---GLORY BE, PAM, DO YOU KNOW SOMETHING ABOUT THAT BAG - WHERE IT IS?
I - I'M NOT SURE - WHERE IT IS, NOW - BUT I DID HAVE IT - IN THE CAR!
DAVID IS KEEN TO HEAR PAM'S STORY

THE NEBBS— Well, Never Mind.

By Sol Hess

WHY DON'T YOU SAY SOMETHING ABOUT THE PARTY THE MANAGEMENT IS GIVING IN MY HONOR SATURDAY NIGHT? WHY DON'T YOU ADMIT IT WAS A GREAT DAY FOR YOU WHEN I TOOK YOU OFF YOUR FATHER'S HANDS?

ACTS AS WALL STREET ENVOY

Brokerage Head Tours Nation As Good Will Ambassador For Stock Mart.

DENVER —(INS)— Wall Street wants the county to know that its activities are geared for the public benefit and not vice versa.

Acting as goodwill ambassador of the famed financial center, E. A. Pierce, himself a well-known brokerage head, made that statement in Denver on a recent transcontinental tour on which he hopes to "aid in creating a better relationship between the financial interests and the general public."

"Wall Street is really a generic term," he told a press conference. "It applies as well to LaSalle street in Chicago and Seventeenth street in Denver—any place where a financial mart exists. And we hope to educate the public to the idea that leaders of finance are anxious to guard their investments as scrupulously as their own.

Unlike most businessmen, Pierce made only mild criticism of taxes and declared it would make little difference to general business conditions who was elected president in November. He admitted, however, that the "Street" was apparently favorable to Wendell Willkie.

He expressed full approval of the national defense program and repeated financial interests' desire to co-operate with the government's plan. At the same time, Pierce warned against over-expansion of plants and capital, pointing to lessons learned in the world war as an example of what could happen.

BRITISH BLAST BERLIN CENTER IN AIR ATTACK

(DNB, official German news agency, said Nazi warplanes had heavily bombed military targets in Liverpool and cities in southern England before dawn.)

Units of the British fleet were reported officially to have taken the offensive in an attempt to smash German preparations for the long-threatened invasion, which Prime Minister Churchill warned his people yesterday could be expected at any moment.

The admiralty said Nazi shipping and ports vital to an invasion attempt had been bombarded from the sea, but declared it could not give details without disclosing information which might be helpful to the Germans.

Heavy British coastal guns also joined in the bombardment last night, and were hammered in turn by swarms of German dive bombers and long range guns, which made the Dover area tremble under the war's worst shelling.

British planes swept across the channel in force, and the German guns finally became silent after hours of intermittent shelling. Great columns of black smoke rose from the sea between Calais and Dunkerque.

The night-long London air attack began at 8.36 p. m. (2:36 p. m. EST).

Hundreds of anti-aircraft guns roared into action as the first raiders approached the city, throwing up a screen of flame and explosives without waiting for searchlights to spot the individual Nazi planes. London thus got the noisiest night of the war.

It was a radical change in tactics of ground defenses, which hitherto had directed their fire at specific targets. The screen of iron was likened by observers to artillery barrages thrown down in the World war to protect advancing troops.

Some of the raiders were forced to turn back with bombs still in their racks. At least two were shot down over the city.

One high explosive bomb crashed onto the roof of a newspaper building, cut through a 15,000-gallon water tank and dropped to an automobile parking space in the rear of the structure, but caused no casualties.

For the first time in five nights, however, the Associated Press building in the center of the capital was not shaken by bomb explosions, and there was no sign of the usual activity of fire fighting apparatus.

(Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio officials in Hollywood said they had been advised their London headquarters had been "severely damaged" by a bomb, but that there were no casualties.)

The government announced 400 persons were killed and 1,400 injured in Monday night's raid on London, making a total of 1,010 dead and 4,300 wounded for the first three of the all-night raids.

An official announcement said 89 German raiders were shot down yesterday. Twenty-four British planes were reported missing but pilots of seven were said to be safe.

Bomb Threatens Cathedral

LONDON — (U.P.) — St. Paul's cathedral, burial place of British heroes and one of the most famous of London's buildings, was in imminent danger today from an unexploded German bomb, believed to be of delayed action type, which struck in a street close to the narrow churchyard.

The bomb made a small hole in the street and bulged the surface ominously. It broke a gas main and flames spurted up until the gas was turned off.

Policemen and air raid wardens roped off the entire area in fear the bomb would explode at any time.

There has been acute fear on three occasions—in 1912, in 1921 and 1932—that the building, or part of it, might collapse even without such a shock as the explosion of a bomb.

In 1932 it was asserted that at any time the cathedral might crash or begin sinking into the ground. It is balanced on wet sand and its foundations are no deeper at any point than 4½ feet beneath the floor of its crypt.

Experts after a survey in 1932, upon completion of a reinforcement project, said that so long as the sand remained wet there was little danger of a crash. But it was feared today that if the underground springs which keep the sand wet were dammed by a large excavation such as a bomb might cause, there would be acute danger.

British Bombers Active In Africa

CAIRO—(AP)—British bombing planes attacked the Italian African strongholds of Amseat and Derna, setting fire to harbor and petty installations at Derna, an official communique announced today.

RAF planes also bombed airdromes at Bardia, Sciascianna and Derna, damaging planes on the ground, the statement said, adding that British pursuit planes shot down four enemy bombers over Matruh.

DEFENDS HONOR

Frenchman Returns To Vichy For War Trial.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Guy LaChambre, French air minister in the first Daladier cabinet leaves today for Vichy voluntarily in an attempt to vindicate his honor as a Frenchman.

He will face a French court there on charges that he and other members of Edouard Daladier's cabinet permitted France to enter war unprepared and were responsible for her defeat. He was confident of being absolved.

of George Berry, 263 Home avenue and was not George Beery, assisted previously. Board members said George W. Beery, 76 West Dickson avenue, had protested to them that he did not sign the petition. Beery said he is not in sympathy with the Communist cause.

Signers of the Communist petitions in a number of Ohio counties asked county election boards to remove their names. In Fremont, 18 of 30 signers requested that their names be withdrawn. Two signers there said they were told the petitions were to help get funds for a church. Colored signers said they believed the petitions were to help colored people to get more federal jobs.

Thirty-four signers in Tuscarawas county sought to have their names removed. They filed affidavits saying the petitions were misrepresented to them.

The Richland county election board today began checking petitions filed in behalf of six candidates for judge of the Ohio supreme court. Filed in Columbus, the petitions were sent here for checking.

The candidates are Dennis F. Dunlavy, Ashtabula; Edward C. Turner, Columbus, Thomas J. Jones, Martins Ferry; Alfred C. Jones, Garfield Heights; Frank E. Wilke, Lakewood, and Kent H. Myers, Cleveland Heights.

PLANS LAID

Committee Readies Program of Religious Education.

Plans for the coming year were discussed when the executive committee of the Council of Religious Education in the public schools met at the home of W. C. Mansfield, president, yesterday.

Russell McCullough was elected treasurer of the organization. He will replace M. S. Casto, former treasurer, who is leaving the city.

A curriculum and budget for the coming year were also adopted by the committee at the meeting. Members present were: Rev. H. H. Ford, vice president; Ruth West, secretary; Rev. H. S. Garnes; and Elsie Smith, religious education director.

PERSISTENT

M'Sweeney Continues Effort For Burton Debate.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Ohio was treated today to the oddity of a Democratic candidate for U. S. senator asking a Republican committee to let him speak at a rally for his opponent.

John McSweeney, the Democrat, thus continued his efforts to draw Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, his Republican opponent, into a series of debates.

Burton is scheduled to speak Oct. 10 at Wooster, McSweeney's home town. McSweeney reported he wrote the Wayne county Republican committee asking to appear on the same platform.

Burton visited the Columbiana county fair yesterday and addressed a party rally at Lisbon last night. He could not be reached for comment on McSweeney's request.

ANNOUNCES NEW PHYSICAL CARE

Teacher Ready to Treat Children of Pre-School Age.

Physiotherapy treatment for pre-school children of Mansfield is now available at the West Fifth Street school, Miss Elizabeth Jane Smythe, physiotherapist for the board of education announced today.

Cases recommended for correction or prevention of deformities by the attending physician will be cared for at the school on the days Miss Smythe visits Mansfield, she said.

She is employed on a part time basis by the board of education, spending the balance of the time in the Marion schools. The schedule calls for a visit every other day during the school term.

NEW MACHINE

less powder. An order of $218,000 had been received from the government today.

The force of the blast shattered windows in Kenvil and plate glass store fronts as far away as Dover.

Some reports said there were three explosions at two-minute intervals and then a fourth and more terrific blast.

Ossining, N. Y., on the New York side of the Hudson river, felt the shock, which residents believed at first was an earth tremor.

Morristown, N. J., about 20 miles distant, heard and felt the explosions with the result that police headquarters was swamped with telephone calls.

All available police officers at Morristown were sent to Kenvil.

A rock formation extends from the Kenvil river across New Jersey and under the Hudson river to New York, and communities resting on it, including several in Westchester county, N. Y., felt the blasts.

Newspapers and police headquarters received many calls asking if there had been an earthquake.

BUILDS ENGINES

Ford Rushes Plans on Big Army Plane Order.

DETROIT — (U.P.) — Ford Motor company engineers today rushed plans for a $11,000,000 plant to manufacture 4,000 airplane engines for the U. S. government.

Preliminary engineering work already has been started, Edsel Ford, president of the company, disclosed, and construction contracts will be awarded soon.

The plant wil lbe completed within four months after the ground is broken and the first engine is expected to be turned out from two to four months afterward, Ford said.

Approximately 10,600 will be employed in Ford's newest enterprise, which will build about $69,000,000 worth of engines for the war department, Ford said.

Board To Discuss Plans For Ohio Pistol Tournament

Plans for staging a pistol match among Ohio's law enforcement officers will be discussed tomorrow evening by the board of directors of the Ohio Brotherhood of Police Officers.

The board will meet at 5:30 p. m. in organization offices in the Richland Trust building to draft plans for the shoot which is held annually but was postponed last year because of the death of H. E. McClure, former Mansfield police chief and secretary of the brotherhood.

The matches usually attract approximately 200 crack shots from city, county, state and railroad police forces throughout Ohio.

NAZIS REPORT 40 KILLED IN BRITISH RAIDS

'Fires and Damage' Caused In Berlin, Bremen, and Hamburg Attacks.

Hamburg and Bremen, the official news agency said.

In their Berlin raid, British bombers swept over the city in three waves. Though no bomb explosions were audible in the center of the capital, a government statement said that in addition to the firing of a factory in the northwestern section, small fires were caused at various places in the inner city where incendiary bombs struck residential and business houses.

The formal communique on the Berlin raid repeated the allegation that the British were aiming deliberately at non-military targets.

The official news agency said that there were no casualties in Berlin.

Increasingly furious over the British raids, Nazi sources threatened Great Britain with terrible reprisals and said that up to 10,000 planes a day, including fighters, might soon be used against London.

After consultation with military authorities, the sources said that the use of 10,000 planes a day was entirely possible and that more might even be used. Naturally, it was said, no responsible German quarters would suggest when such a force might be used. But, they added, it was notable that flying weather was now most favorable.

After attacking London and Liverpool during the night, it was asserted, German planes returned to their new "rolling attack" on London early this morning, flying at great height and dropping incendiary bombs which intensified fires started yesterday.

The air raid alarm was sounded in Berlin at 12:45 a. m. for the third straight witching hour attack on the capital.

To observers in the center of the city it seemed the lightest of the three.

Nazi sources re-emphasized their conviction that the German air force would prosecute its attacks on London relentlessly until the city had been smashed to ruins.

Italians Claim Success At Sea

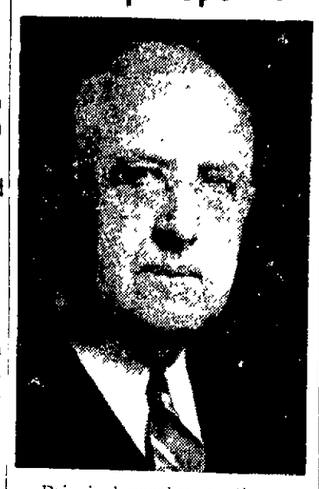
ROME—(AP)—Italy declared today that her submarine arm had reached into the Atlantic ocean to prey on British shipping, crediting one boat with sinking 27,000 tons in a single voyage beyond the strait of Gibraltar.

The high command's communique also claimed that in a raid on Aden, British base at the entrance to the Red sea, at the other extreme of Italy's battle front, two British destroyers were sunk by air bombing Sept. 1 and 2.

The communique declared Italian bombers had smashed again at British troops and supply depots along the Egyptian coast and acknowledged the British had raided the harbor of Derna, in Libya.

(Apparently both Italy and Britain are preparing for major action on the Libyan-Egyptian frontier, either planning to take the offensive or fearful of a drive by the opposition.)

Principal Speaker



Principal speaker at the anniversary dinner to be given by Constitution chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution in observance of Constitution day, Sept. 17, will be Loren E. Souers (shown above) president general of the National society. The dinner will be held at Westbrook Country club and 10 new members are expected to be received into Constitution chapter by President General Souers. Members of the chapter, their wives, D. A. R. members from both Mansfield chapters, and officers of other patriotic organizations will be present, John Shook, S. A. R. president, announced.

NAME CAMACHO

Mexican Chamber of Deputies Proclaims President.

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—The chamber of deputies today proclaimed Manuel Avila Camacho president-elect of Mexico, ruling that he had been successful in the disputed election of July 7.

(The chamber which proclaimed him president-elect is held by the Alamazanistas not to have been legally elected.

The mayor and service director have been studying bids submitted by seven firms on the meters for the past three weeks.

The proposals were opened Aug. 26 and included bids on two automatic machines and five manually operated meters. Prices ranged from $33 to $62 on the various types.

City council authorized the installation of the meters on a trial basis at its Aug. 6 meeting.

Attending yesterday's meeting were Locke, Crafton, Arthur L. Croak, chairman of council's traffic committee; Police Chief Meade K. Bates, City Engineer W. C. Statler, City Electrician Ernest Adams, and Lewis Hartman, who heads the citizens' committee.

14 NEW CASES OF PARALYSIS

Coshocton County Has First Case of Disease.

COLUMBUS— (U.P.) —Fourteen new cases of infantile paralysis were reported to the state health department today, bringing the total number of active cases in Ohio to 72.

Four new cases were reported in Montgomery county, three in Summit, two each in Lucas and Logan, and one each in Tuscarawas, Coshocton and Jackson. It was the first case in Coshocton county this year.

There have been 237 cases of the disease reported to the state department since Jan. 1 and 217 since June 10.

Need for training is quite obvious if the fellows accustomed to taking two hours for lunch are expected to become minute men.

Speech Sets Campaign In Motion

HOWEVER sincere may have been the wonderment of President Roosevelt as to the political nature of his last night's talk to the teamsters' union, in Constitution hall, Washington, his mind may now be freed of any uncertainty as to public interpretation.

Those who heard it, or read it, will probably be of unified belief that it was quite definitely a campaign speech, designed to present Mr. Roosevelt's conception of New Deal accomplishments during the past seven years and as a bid for election to a third term, to assure continuance of his program.

The speech was so frankly political, with radio time paid for by the Democratic national committee, that President Roosevelt's extemporized introduction may fairly be regarded as airy persiflage rather than serious questioning of the significance of his message.

The material presented in this talk, while largely devoted to the labor subject, was of sufficient range to provide ample basis for campaign argument and to lay the groundwork for pro and con discussion of issues during the remaining weeks before the November election.

In the absence of face to face debate between the challenger and the champ, such speeches as was made last night by President (and Candidate) Roosevelt must be made to meet public requirements for information on the issues involved

'Tag Day' for Band Uniforms

OPPORTUNITY will be given many people next Saturday to make a small contribution to the fund being raised to equip Mansfield's Senior high school band with new uniforms.

It is next Saturday, you know, that has been designated as "tag day" for this particular purpose, as the much-used band uniforms are sadly in need of replacement and sufficient money is not yet available to meet the cost.

The excellence of Mansfield high school's band organization, the frequency of its appearance during the school year, and the fine opportunity it provides for development of musical talent by many young people of the city, argue strongly for such public financial support as may be needed to manifest community interest and give the band the trig appearance customary to such groups.

Trade smile for smile with the cheery band boys and girls who will greet you with a tag next Saturday—and drop a coin into the small red bank which each will carry. You'll feel better all through the day—and when you see the band in snappy new uniforms you'll be glad to recall that you helped buy them.

Tiffin's Better Fortune

WHATEVER further details might be interesting in the matter of the Tiffin paving contract which has just been completed by the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company, at least one bald fact looms up—that the work was started August 19 and completed September 4, or 57 days ahead of schedule.

It is also worthy of mention that traffic was maintained on the streets while the improvement work was under way, and that the job, originally set up as a WPA "brick turning" project at an estimated cost of $87,000 was finally carried through as a state highway department resurfacing project at a cost of $13,865, of which the city of Tiffin contributed $5,000.

However little like Mansfield's Fourth street improvement the conditions may have been on the streets that were improved in Tiffin, the facts remain that the Fourth street re-paving has not yet been completed in the short stretch from Diamond to Mulberry street; that the street has been closed to traffic a needlessly long time; that total costs will be unnecessarily high; that merchants along the street have sustained heavy losses and that the whole thing has been made a miserable mess as a result of multiplication of agencies involved and amateurish handling of preliminaries in advance of actual work of pouring concrete and laying brick.

It now appears that, with a season of bad weather approaching, actual completion of the Fourth street improvement to its west terminus may carry through into next summer—unless speed is much greater in the next few weeks than it has been during the past several months.

And, through all of this, it should be kept in mind that "government money" isn't GOVERNMENT money—it is TAXPAYERS' MONEY.

Canning for War Relief

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., started something that probably won't stop growing and may not end until the war is over. The people there, tired of just being sorry that Europe is going to be hungry next winter, are going into action. All around the town are small fields planted with carrots, beets, beans and other vegetables, and as fast as they are ready they will be canned by local talent and sent abroad.

It started in the town hall. People were talking about European relief, and somebody said: "Let's forget about money. Let's do this in the New England way. Food is needed. Why not give food?" So one person offered to contribute an acre of land, and another agreed to have it plowed the next day, and somebody else offered canning equipment, and more land was dumped into the pot, and soon the campaign was on. From all appearances there will be a fine crop, and the goal is 10,000 cans.

The food will be given to the Red Cross for shipment abroad. So practically all that remains now is to make sure it will get to people who need it. There may be difficulty about that in some countries, but presumably the Red Cross will find a way as usual.

In a recent spelling bee out west "prosperity" floored seven out of a dozen contenders, as they hadn't brushed up on obsolete words.

A Kentucky planter has developed a tobacco plant that is free of nicotine—but, for that matter, so is cabbage.

AN UNWELCOME VISITOR

Listen, World!

Are American Mothers of Today Selling Their Sex Short?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

NINE black-veiled women sitting silent, bowed—waiting. Waiting, day after day, in a Capitol lobby, as a protest against compulsory military training. Dangling outside, the grotesque dummy of Senator Pepper, supporter of the measure, whom they had had hanged in effigy before they started their "Death Watch." Startling demonstration that. Not easily forgotten. And one that many another woman will applaud. But not spunky Mrs. W. Walter Williams, 70, of New Bedford, Massachusetts!

Twenty years ago, in the first World war, Mrs. Williams passed through the agony of her own Death Watch, came out of it with a gold star over her heart and the memory of a boy who would never come home. If ever a woman had a right to hate war and dread its clutch on Youth, this mother has. And does. But no black veil for her, no effigy hangings. To the contrary, she has taken her stand with "the men folks" and started a "one-woman campaign" in favor of conscription.

Two violently different viewpoints, each one utterly sincere, each one backed by excellent arguments. Which is right? One wonders. And, wondering, I think back—

I'm remembering those women I knew as a youngster, back in California's frontier days. Women who'd climbed as girl brides into those sun-seared, frost-frayed covered wagons. Older women—their youth already passed—who'd taken the same trail with gray-haired husbands or adventuring sons. And a grim trail it was, believe me!

Very romantic, now, to sit in an air-conditioned movie house and see these modern Hollywood versions of that heroic trek. But no silver screen can show the misery and monotony, the homesickness that gnawed like acid at those pioneer women's hearts. And no technicolor, however radiant, can do justice to the courage that flamed beneath their ragged gowns and drove them on, despite heartbreak, terror and death.

I'm thinking of one grizzled old Amazon whose girth was only exceeded by her salty and often profane mirth. She'd been a frail flash of a girl when she slipped away from her blue-blooded Philadelphia home and eloped with a young lieutenant, as young and untested as herself, and headed for Indian trouble. Never in all her sheltered years had she known discomfort or responsibility, much less the gaunt face of danger. But within a week she was following her husband's regiment, as homeless and hunted, and often as hungry, as any prairie wolf, and taking it all in her stride.

She did not have even the gold craze to buoy her spirit. For years life was one long Indian skirmish, her only haven some transient camp fire. In one week, she watched four of the babes she had borne without medical aid die from diphtheria . . . sat, dry-eyed as the wagon wheels rolled over their shallow graves—and her heart. Yet lived to bear four more.

When I knew her, she was nearing the end—still as merry and as mellow as old wine. Her house was home to every youngster in town. She rarely talked of the past, but if one brought it up, her big chin tightened, her strong old fingers snapped.

"What else was there to do?" she'd snort. "Life was like that when the West was young. Some had to take the beating. You young whippersnappers don't know what it's all about. Playing around with croquet balls when we were sortin' scalps!"

RAMBLING through the Ghost Towns of the Mother Lode, I think of her and the thousands like her who broke that wilderness. Still their mark lingers in the crumbling walls. New England roses climbing over an old adobe hut, in a treeless wilderness with only coyote and buzzard for neighbor. Mats of clove pink half lost in the weeds . . . harvest of root and slip and seed, carried through hell over three thousand miles by women who'd risked and often lost all they held dear.

WOMEN LIKE THAT MADE THIS NATION. THEIR COURAGE, THEIR PATIENCE, THEIR FIGHTING FAITH MADE AMERICA POSSIBLE. HAD THEY WISHED, THEY COULD HAVE HAMSTRUNG AND HOBBLED THEIR MEN WITH TEARS AND CODDLING, AS SURELY AS THEIR GRANDDAUGHTERS ARE DOING THE SAME THING TODAY. BUT TO THEM THERE WAS SOMETHING GREATER IN LIFE THAN SAFETY, SOMETHING MORE IMPORTANT THAN HAPPINESS, SOMETHING THAT TOOK PRECEDENCE OVER PERSONAL JOY OR HEARTBREAK.

THEY SERVED LIFE, THOSE WOMEN, AND GAVE IT ALL THEY HAD. AND FROM THAT SERVICE SPRANG AMERICA.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Sept. 12, 1920.

Thirty-seven members of the 1920 graduating class were packing up to leave for college, as some of them will remember.

New song books were placed in use at First Presbyterian church.

Foreign War Veterans launched campaign to secure $50,000 in contributions to erect county home.

Mrs. Frank Cave was elected chairwoman of Richland county organization of Democratic women voters.

French minister of war wisely predicted that a new war was possible and urged preparedness.

C. of C. held annual picnic at Long's grove.

First of seven Sundays on which there was no rain in Mansfield.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, Sept. 12, 1935.

John Becker, 15, Sherman avenue, was the first Mansfield youth of the season to be injured while practicing football.

Mrs. Christian Schwert celebrated her 94th birthday anniversary with family dinner party.

Mrs. Johanna Schmidt, 85, died.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fulmer celebrated their 64th wedding anniversary.

Story of How Song Was Born

—By JEAN NEWTON

THE morning of September 13, 1814, was dawning.

Peering anxiously through field glasses, a young American poet, prisoner on deck an English ship, all during the night had listened to the bombardment of Fort McHenry, whose fate was still unknown.

Suddenly, through the faint light, he made out the flag, still flying.

Inspired, he pulled out an old letter and on its back started writing feverishly.—

"O, say can you see by the dawn's early light—"

Shortly after, the British withdrew, and the young poet—Francis Scott Key—was released.

He immediately went to his uncle in Baltimore, Judge Nicholson, one of the defenders of the fort, and asked him for his opinion of the verse.

Next he knew, all Baltimore was singing it, for the judge had thought so highly of it as to at once order it printed on a handbill and circulated throughout the city, together with the author's request that it be sung to the tune of Anacreon in Heaven.

The ball was started rolling when the printer, Captain Benjamin Eades, took the first proof to a thespians' and writers' rendezvous adjoining the Holliday Street Theater and after showing it around to the crowd asked the actor Ferdinand Durang to sing it.

Durang mounted a chair and delivered its sonorous phrases; for some time afterwards it was sung nightly in the theater; and soon everybody was doing it.

Francis Scott Key wrote many other poems, but it is his battle-born lyric The Star Spangled Banner that made his name and fame.

No More Welsbachs!

The going out of business of the Welsbach Company, makers of gas mantles, at Gloucester City, N. J., brings to mind a ritual of our youth which succeeded the earlier Saturday morning ceremony of breathing into coal oil lamp chimneys and cleaning and bringing them to a high polish with crushed newspapers.

For the benefit of the later generation, a gas mantle was an illuminating device, fixed into a gas jet, which became incandescent at a low temperature. It was made of a combustible substance combined with a salt of some refractory earth such as zirconium. When the combustible element was burned away, there was left a frame of refractory material which gave off a comparatively white light.

It is interesting that the mantle was patterned some years after the first electric light. The Welsbach lamp flourished through the long period in which the electric light bulb was finding itself.—Detroit News.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Comfortable Life In Rushville; Willkie Soon to Start on Tour

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

RUSHVILLE, Ind.—Preparing for his first big campaign tour, Wendell Willkie enjoyed the comfortable life of a summer visitor in this mellow county seat.

For the most part he had no fixed schedule and divided his time between the old Frank Cross farm a little west of here, which he owns, and the solid, red brick mansion on shady Harrison street, which he rents from the owner of Rushville's leading department store. Around the house runs a spacious porch, and it is here that Willkie spent much of his time.

The GOP standard bearer rose around 7 a. m., and had a hearty Hoosier breakfast with his wife and son Phil. From then on, his day was filled with interviews, telephone calls, dictation, reading and just plain taking it easy. He usually retired a little after midnight.

Willkie transacted most of his important campaign business by phone. For this purpose two experienced operators were brought from Indianapolis and a special switchboard set up. The other day he talked an hour and a half with San Francisco. His letters average around 250 a day.

Willkie was easily accessible to friends, politicians and crackpots alike. With the latter two groups, however, he obviously was quickly bored and wished them off on members of his staff. Special friends he took out to his farm, where he did his most important conferring.

Of the five farms which Willkie owns, three are in his wife's name. The Frank Cross farm used to belong to a well-to-do farmer (a Democrat) who extended himself too far and was caught in the depression. The farm was bought for little more than $70 an acre.

All of Willkie's farms co-operate in the AAA program and he and his tenants will receive $3110 in benefit payments this year, which they will divide fifty-fifty. Willkie also owns a business building in Rushville and an interest in the Rushville National bank.

* * *

Happy Mrs. Willkie.

MRS. WILLKIE had a wonderful time in Rushville. This is her home, and the folks genuinely like her. On the courthouse square they say, "Edith is a mighty fine girl. Don't know her husband very well."

Mrs. Willkie's father, Phil Wilk, built the courthouse, later was county auditor. At least two hundred relatives of Mrs. Willkie live in and around Rushville.

Son Phil, handsome Princeton undergraduate, also had a grand time. He got a big rush from the local belles and had more invitations than he could accept.

An important part of the Willkie entourage are the newsmen covering him. They stayed downtown in a hotel and were about the only part of the campaign personnel that the townspeople saw regularly. The reporters are the candidate's personal corps of advisers. He consults them frequently on statements and strategy and they are on the alert to protect him.

An illustration of this was his frank admission the day he addressed the townsfolk, "I'm not a farmer, never have been and hope I never have to be."

Not a word of this went out in the dispatches — although it quickly got around the neighborhood, as local Republican managers discovered when they tried to put up some large Willkie billboards. They had to go five miles out of town before they found a farmer who would let them use his place for this purpose.

On Highway 52, entering Rushville, there is a big sign on a barn reading, "This is NOT a Willkie farm."

* * *

Farmers' Talk.

AFTER the first few days of excitement quieted down, Rushville took its distinguished guest pretty much in stride.

The merchants put up bunting, also picture posters here and there, but as one storekeeper observed, "We've got sort of used to it. Can't be running around celebrating every day."

The local garage man says he hears less about politics than in years. Folk are far more interested in the war and national defense.

Over in Henry O'Neil's blacksmith shop, where the farmers loaf and argue, there isn't much Willkie talk. Most of the farmers still seem undecided about the presidential contest and are keeping their thoughts to themselves. Occasionally, however, one will talk up with a strong GOP slant.

Sometimes this will provoke a retort. One farmer, after listening to a pro-Willkie argument for a while, remarked dourly, "Well, I haven't anything against Edith. She's a mighty nice little woman. But what's Willkie doing with five farms? That's too many, when us poor fellows are trying to make a living from eighty acres. I'm a Republican, but this business of having five farms doesn't seem right. One thing's sure, you don't get that many by farming."

Blacksmith O'Neill, who has been shoeing horses for thirty-five years, listens amiably to the gossip, has little to say. Once when asked his opinion of the political situation, he wiped his soot-blackened face, drawled, "Well, I'd say this fellow Willkie has a heavy pull before him. He's up against a man that's going to be mighty hard to beat."

Over on the courthouse lawn, where a group is always sunning itself, sentiment also seems strongly pro-Edith and a bit dubious about her husband. Among the merchants and professional men, however, there is no doubt. Almost to a man they are for Willkie.

• • •

"Forgotten" Jim Watson.

"FORGOTTEN MAN" in Rushville is Jim Watson, former senate Republican floor leader and in 1928 candidate for the presidential nomination against Hoover.

Years ago Indianans came to Rushville just to see the house where "Sunny Jim" lived. Today, only an occasional old-timer mentions him. Watson opposed Willkie at the Philadelphia convention, hasn't visited Rushville since Willkie took up residence there. A member of the county GOP committee, when questioned about Jim, replied, "He will come and campaign here if we want him to, but just between us, we hope he won't."

If Jim, now practicing law in Washington, doesn't come back to Indiana, it will be the first time in nearly half a century that he will fail to close the Republican state campaign in Rushville.

• • •

Willkie Clubs.

One thing upon which Willkie quietly concentrated was ironing out the rows that have developed in some states between the regular GOP organization and the Willkie clubs.

Under the campaign set-up he organized in Colorado Springs, the Willkie clubs, headed by young Oren Root, are independent of the regular organizations, raising their own money and running their own show. In some localities, this has created dissension.

Naturally this isn't conducive to winning votes, and Willkie has been trying to restore harmony. His procedure has been to phone a key man in the afflicted state, usually the national committeeman, and empower him to become peacemaker.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—When Andy Anderson got ready to write that murder novel of his, "Kill One, Kill Two," he went back to the Blue Ridge section of his boyhood North Carolina for a background. In the book there is a mountain on which, at various times, mysterious lights appear. There is a legend among the Indians who inhabit the region that these lights mean death. When they appear, someone is certain to die.

We asked Andy if there really is such a mountain in North Carolina.

"Yes, sir," he replied, "in the Linville section, near Ashville. Only, we call it Brown mountain. I've heard about the Brown mountain lights all my life."

"Did you ever see them, Andy? Don't lie now."

"No," he admitted, "I never did. But I know plenty of people who have. The government even has investigated them. And a number of scientists in the south have made studies of them. They're some sort of phenomena, but they don't really mean that somebody is going to die. Sometimes there's just one light; and sometimes they come in clusters. It's a very funny thing."

* * *

FUNNY isn't the word for it. If you know any mystery writers, you'll know what I mean by that. Take Andy, for instance. Here is a tall (well over six feet), extraordinarily thin young man with prematurely grey hair. He speaks with a softly flowing North Carolina drawl. He has knocked about the south, middle west, and the metropolitan district as a newspaperman for 20 years. This is his first book.

"I wrote most of it in an apartment on 14th street between 5th avenue and Union Square, and if you don't think that is a peculiar environment for a murder mystery you don't know what it means to hear Communist brawlers shrill screaming insults at taxi-drivers, and shoe-string salesmen squabbling with the cops. It's Coney Island and Hell's Kitchen wrapped around Sugar Hill, with a blob of the Bowery thrown in.

"Finally I went out to Jackson Heights and finished the thing in comparative peace. But nobody wanted it. One night we ran out of tally sheets during a hot bridge game and I kicked over the manuscript, looking for some extra paper. Sitting in the game was a literary agent. He said, 'What is that thing?' Which was a superlative question, as anybody who has ever seen a manuscript can tell one a mile. The upshot of this was he took the manuscript. Twenty-four hours later it had been submitted, and accepted."

* * *

WE ALSO asked Andy if he himself was a mystery novel fan. "I eat 'em up," he admitted. "I've read a thousand of the things. They get you. All great men read mystery stories. Winston Churchill, President Roosevelt, Henry Ford, . . . Don't you?"

We told him that, strange as it may seem, we never had read an out-and-out modern mystery novel, but that, come midnight, we were a cinch to get started on the right track, as a copy, neatly autographed, of "Kill One, Kill Two" was even then under our arm and we were all set to get going.

A Farmer's Diary

Reforestation Project

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I STOOD upon the strong broad breast of Pleasant Hill dam, and looked eastward through the narrow wooded valley of the Clearfork. Along the steep sides stand mixed forests of pine, spruce, oak, beech and sugar. A more secluded, inaccessible place I have not seen, even among the mountains of Pennsylvania. Great native ledges of sandstone rock stand almost perpendicular in many places. It holds an atmosphere of beauty and solitude.

On the gaunt pointed chestnut snags buzzards come to roost at night; foxes dens are common throughout the region; and the crane finds her home unmolested.

High up on a table land, I saw from where I stood, the sunlight glisten on the metal lattice of the observation tower at Mohican state park. Last year I climbed those stairways and stood upon the platform at the top. Far in the northern distance were rolling farms, and forest trees and rural dwellings, but east and south were areas of jagged wooded knobs, and westward the steep gorge made by the quiet flowing Clearfork.

Ten years ago Mohican state park, in lower Ashland county, was just a dream. Much of the land, then, was abandoned, eroded, impoverished fields. The dreamers worked with the most unlikely spot the county's most useless acres.

Here the first group of CCC boys built their barracks. They cut smooth easy highways from the barren hillsides, built bridges and, more important, planted a million or more pine seedlings over 17 hundred acres. It was the first government reforestation project in all this region. The beautiful growing trees, from three to eight years old are living voices that speak justly of the dream that now is realized.

Here wild life of both plants and animals is preserved. The darting rabbit, the reluctant pheasant, the prim quail family that enters here is safe. Here the ruthless destruction of the trillium, the rare woods lily, the modest trailing arbutus, the purple autumn gentian is stayed for many years. Here groups of travelers from all the regions near may come to feast and play and worship. On these grounds democracy is not a theory merely, but is actually lived within the present moment.

QUIET HOME SERVICE READ THIS MORNING

Miss Jean Elizabeth Purdy, Carl McNeill Exchange Vows With Rev. Corwin Officiating; Will Live In Akron.

A HOME CEREMONY was read at 10 o'clock this morning by Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor of the First Methodist church, for Miss Jean Elizabeth Purdy and Carl McNeill. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Purdy, 408 Park avenue west, and Mr. McNeill is the son of Mrs. Clara McNeill, Canton.

Miss Purdy and Mr. McNeill stood before an improvised altar before the living room fireplace in her home. The bride was attired in a two-piece brown velvet suit with a matching bonnet style veiled hat. She wore brown accessories and gold kid gloves, and a corsage of yellow and Johanna Hill roses and gypsophila.

She is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, and received her B. A. degree from Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware last June. She is a member of Delta Gamma social sorority, and has been employed at the H. L. Reed company.

Mr McNeill attended Canton McKinley high school, and also received his A. B. degree from Wesleyan where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity. He is employed as a chemist.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Wickcliffe Manor to members of the immediate families

Mr. and Mrs. McNeill will make their home at 754 Carroll street in Akron. In addition to the bridegroom's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McNeill, Canton, were also out-of-town guests.

Mayflower Class Plans Two Events

Mrs. Steve Jocha, sr., entertained members of the Esther class of the Mayflower Congregational church last evening at her home on Daisy street. Miss Evelyn Jocha and Mrs. Steve Jocha, jr., were guests for the evening. Devotions were read by Mrs. Ralph Peat, the associate hostess, and Mrs. Cleo Hainer, president, conducted the business.

The class is planning to have a rummage sale on Sept. 24 and 25 at 13 East Sixth street, with Mrs. Lial Ish in charge. Prizes in last evening's contests were won by Mrs. W. H. Hussong and Mrs. Mary Dinges. Refreshments were served at the close of the social hour.

A masquerade party is being planned for Oct. 9 at the home of Mrs. C. A. Cole, 394 West Fifth street. Mrs. Don Rudolph will assist the hostess at that time.

Franklin Arts Club Plans Fall Exhibit

Final arrangements for a fall festival to be held at the Franklin church tomorrow evening were made when 18 members of the Franklin Art club met at the home of Mrs Chloe Hughes in Epworth yesterday afternoon. There will be flower, vegetable and art work displays at this evening affair, and refreshments will be served by the group.

Mrs. Nyle Oswalt was a guest at yesterday's session, and the program was devoted to papers on "Preventative Medicine," "Cancer," and "Social Diseases." These topics were presented by Mrs. Laura Mahon, Mrs. Vonie Oswalt and Mrs. Glenn Boling. Refreshments were served at the close, and it was announced that the next regular meeting will be held on Nov. 13.

Covered-Dish Dinner Held by Church Unit

A covered-dish dinner was an event of yesterday evening for members of the Katherine Von Bora class of the First Lutheran church in the parish house. The table was decorated with orchid and yellow appointments, and hostesses in charge were Mrs. Paul Harter, Mrs. Martin Levering, Mrs Carl Wolfarth and Miss Florence Herring.

Mrs. Grace Downs was the guest speaker, and a musical program followed her talk. Mrs. George Price and Miss Catherine Pollock were recipients of the contest prizes. The next class meeting has been scheduled for Nov. 13.

Scholarteers Plan Party For Tonight

The Scholarteers club met at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Nixon, Ashland road, Tuesday afternoon for a regular session. A contribution was made for the Richland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, and plans were completed for a dinner and theater party to be held tonight

There were 12 members and eight children present. The guest was Mrs. Kenneth Cochran. Mrs Emil Pfister was taken into the club. Mrs. Ed. Hall led the Bible study, and a special report on "Destroyers for Bases—Effect on Our Safety" was given by Mrs Neil Robinson. Mrs. Robinson will entertain at her Cairns road home, Oct. 8. Mrs. Thomas Scott and Mrs. Nixon will have the program.

HAVE MEETING.

There were 41 members of St. John's guild present for a meeting yesterday afternoon at the church. Devotional readings were given by Mrs. Hedwig Hamilton, and Mrs. Mary Harberson read a paper. Mrs. P. H. Saleste sang a vocal selection, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Helen Maglott. Refreshments then were served by the hostesses of the day, Mrs. Josephine Erdenberger, Mrs Anna Erdenberger and Mrs. Avis Erdenberger. The next meeting at the church will be on Sept. 26.

* * *

HAVE ROAST.

Members and guests of Class 36 of the First Christian church held their first wiener roast of the season Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Merle Beer, on the Possum Run road.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Hats for autumn are gay and youthful, but not the dizzy type which draws hoots from the menfolk. They take into consideration, too, the new pompadour hair styles. Ida Lupino chooses a pert Scotch cap of bottle green felt with embroidery motif of bold thread. Olivia De Havilland selects a wine red and powder blue felt, the smartly dipping brim faces with powder blue suede and with a simulated quill. Anne Shirley's chapeau looks like a college mortar board, and is of black felt with a wide band of grosgrain ribbon.

ASSEMBLY CONDUCTS CEREMONIES AT TEMPLE

Rainbow Girls Have Rose Program. Installation of New Officers Observed By Members, Distinguished Guests.

MEMBERS of the Rainbow Assembly for Girls, Eastern Stars, Masons, distinguished guests and friends gathered at the Masonic temple last night for the rose ceremony and public installation of officers. Guests included George N. Clark, state Dad from Cleveland; Mrs. Grace Woodward, deputy of district No. 6, Betty Mercer, grand immortality, Mary Jane Kuhn, worthy advisor, and Mrs. Amos Burton, mother advisor, all of Newark.

The members of the assembly formed a circle in the east, and Miss Virginia Casperson, retiring worthy advisor, gave each girl a red rose, and sang, as her farewell, Schubert's "Serenade." Dad Clark installed Miss Marion Reese, new worthy advisor, and Miss Casperson installed the other officers.

Miss Mercer served as chaplain. Miss Doris Swank as soloist, Mrs. Olivia Edwards as pianist, and the Misses Mary Ellen Campbell and Jean Reid as installing marshalls.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Reese gave their daughter a bouquet of red roses which was presented by Miss Betty Lou Thomas, and after Marion received her past advisor's jewel, she presented her mother and father with flowers.

"The Lord's Prayer" and "The End of a Perfect Day" were sung by the entire group of 250. The East was decorated with beauty baskets of flowers in the rainbow shades, palms, ferns and candelabra. The next meeting will be Sept. 18 at the K. of P. hall.

PLAN PARTY.

During a routine business session of Chi Sigma sorority at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Tuesday evening, Miss Florence Nail, president, announced that new officers will be elected at the next business meeting, Oct. 24. The group is planning to have a guest party at Mrs. Walter C. Kramer's, 117 Stewart avenue, next Tuesday evening. Hostesses at that time will be Miss Naomi Stutz, chairman, Miss Mary Strater, Miss Wilma Zigler, Mrs. John Van Wagner, Mrs. Wilbur Upson and Mrs. R. Wayne Sutton. Mrs Wayne Paulson of Portsmouth, a former member of the sorority, was present last night.

Friends Honor Girls At Parties Given Last Night

More showers were on the calendar yesterday as several Mansfield girls were feted by their friends. Mrs. Leo Graham, Mrs George Grega and Mrs. Neil Swank gave a party at the Susie Janis home for Miss Mildred Hershey last night. The honoree was presented with a corsage of sweetheart roses by the hostesses.

A bride's book was made during the evening. A miniature wedding party decorated the table at which the guests were seated. Pastel shades were used. Mrs. William B. Willis, Mrs. Rose Harbaugh and daughter, Ashland, were guests.

Miss Hershey, who will become the bride of Edgar J. Berry Saturday at the South Main Street Evangelical church at 1:30 p. m., will be honored tonight by Mrs Bernard Randall.

* * *

HAVE DINNER.

Ten members of the Linneaus Garden club motored to the cottage of Mrs. C. K. Smaltz, Rye Beach, Tuesday for a dinner party. Fall flowers decorated the table. Mrs. C. W. Chew, president, was in charge. The next meeting will be a breakfast Sept. 24 with Mrs Henry J. Paulsen, 510 Beachwood drive as hostess. Members will bring flowers to share with shutins.

PATRIOTISM THEME OF BUSINESS DINNER

Organization Launches Season at Hotel; R. B. Gardner Guest Speaker; Plan to Attend Out-of-Town Sessions.

PATRIOTISM was the theme of the first meeting of the season of the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's club last night when more than 70 members gathered in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Dinner was served at three long tables attractively decorated with red, white and blue crepe paper, flowers and candles.

During the business meeting presided over by Mrs. Marvel Cowell arrangements were made to attend the charter presentation meeting of the Shelby club Sept. 26 at 7 p. m. at the First Lutheran church in that city. Faye Cisco is in charge of arrangements.

Some of the local club members will also attend the president's meeting in Columbus this weekend

Welcomed into membership were Margaret Parker, Elizabeth Merle, Martha McFarland and Grace Wilson. Standing committee reports were given, and Marie Weil reported the state convention.

Florence Cairns, program chairman, supervised the presentation of the colors by two members of the McVey post, American Legion, after which the group sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

Retiring Department Commander R. B. Gardner spoke on the fifth column movement, following which the members asked questions. Mary Daubenspeck sang "God Bless America," and "America" was the concluding song.

Assisting Miss Cairns was Lenna Mateer, Loretta Zeller, Urith Funston, Ida Willis and Miss Weil. The hospitality committee included Mabel Selfe, Doris Handel, Lillian Wigton and Almeda Sharp.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 9 in celebration of National Business Women's week. Details of the meeting will be announced later.

Three Shades Popular For Fall Costumes

By SUSAN BARDEN

Three tone is the popular and chic conception for spectator and active sportswear this autumn Whether you are spending your time in the country, are a confirmed week-ender, or are one of those people who just naturally prefer the joys of casual clothes —you'll welcome the new cheery light shades with a touch of vehement color.

Our experts on country clothes predict that scrambled colors in both suits and ensembles will be the backbone of all smart outdoor wardrobes.

Subtle mixtures, whether they are different shades of one basic color or combinations of what we used to think of as "fighting colors," are equally good. So you can take your choice of being exuberantly gay or quietly three-tone.

Ida Lupino has chosen a new frock made of soft gray wool. It is an example of the warm but not bulky materials that are being used so much. Sticking to the many-color ideal, it combines black, gray and red plaid. The plaid top is softly bloused, while the gray skirt is faced with the plaid at the front.

Brenda Marshall is wearing a jacket costume which was designed by Milo Anderson. The two-piece dress combines a skirt of soft wool and a fitted blouse of striped wool in several different shades of blue. The monotone fabric has been used for the sleeves, and is topped off with a hip-length jacket of the striped fabric.

Three shades of gray, light, intermediate and dark, enhance this smartly tailored wool dress worn by Ginger Rogers. It is really a costume that can be turned into two different dresses. The skirt of the two darker shades buttons over the light gray shirtmaker type frock which features tailored slash pockets in its long-sleeved top. The long novelty buttonhole is bound in the darkest gray. This neutral tone basic dress can be worn without the skirt, and with a bright scarf at the neck and accessories it will make a perfect costume for either classroom or office. When week-ending or feeling more in the mood for the great outdoors, you only have to add the skirt and you have a brand new costume.

Another thought tbout these lighter shade dresses is that they will be appropriate for practically any season or clime. They will be as smart on a southern vacation as they will be to begin next spring

"The Authority on Authorities"

COUNTING A SQUEEZE

FEW SITUATIONS in the game are prettier than those in which a player counts up the succession of tricks to ascertain whether there is a possible squeeze in the hand. If he sees that the running of a bunch of them will oblige one opponent to discard until he cannot adequately guard more than one other suit, the job of guarding the remaining two is put up to the partner of that defender. Then it is time to squeeze the partner, who may have to unguard one of his two suits while trying to protect the other.

	♠ A K ♥ A K Q 8 5 4 ♦ A K 6 ♣ A 6
♠ Q 9 7 5 4 3 ♥ None ♦ 10 ♣ Q J 10 9 8 5	N. W. E. S.	♠ 8 6 ♥ 7 2 ♦ J 9 8 7 5 ♣ K 4 3 2

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
2 ♥	Pass	3 ♥	3 ♠
4 ♠	Pass	6 ♥	6 ♠
7 ♥	Pass	Pass	7 ♠
7 NT	Pass	Pass	8 ♣

That bidding actually occurred in the recent national championship tournament at Asbury Park, N. J. Following the tournament director's ruling on West's impossible bid the declarer selected the option of playing the hand at 7-No Trumps with a club lead batte . He could have made the contract but failed through lack of sufficient knowledge of squeeze plays.

All that was necessary was for North to run first two spades and six hearts. Those eight tricks would have pated East down to five cards. Being marked by West's bidding as the only one able to guard diamonds, he would have had to hold four of them, so could keep only one club.

Then the declarer could have cashed the diamond A K and Q. The last of these, on the eleventh trick, would have ruined West. He would have been pated then to two clubs to protect the club 6 and the spade Q to guard the J. If on the third diamond he tossed the spade, the spade J and club A would have completed the grand slam; if he threw one of his two clubs, the club A would have dropped the Q and J, and the club 6 would have been the last trick.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Sometimes I could wring his neck," Katherine said, ignoring Lillian's gibe, "for the trouble he's caused Mary."

"I know" Lillian admitted gloomily. Then she brightened. "I think that's all past now," she said comfortably, "especially since he's publicly accepted Mary in that role, and staged that touching brother and sister act for Noel and Olina."

"I missed that," Katherine said regretfully. "I'd have given a finger or, at least, a toe to have seen Olina's face when her future father-in-law pulled that."

"Did you ever burn little Olina up?" Lillian exclaimed with malicious glee. "I suppose I ought to feel sorry for the brat, but I can't pump up a single half gill of sympathy for her. I never say anybody can get a 'come-uppance' quite as satisfactory as that one."

"You're both hard-hearted wretches," I told them, smiling. "Come along with me upstairs, and we'll ask Miss Whitlock if she's ready to transfer Edith to my study down here."

"Trailing right behind you," Lillian said as I started for the door of the library, and she, with Katherine, kept close to me as I went up the stairs and along the second floor corridor to the door of my room behind which Edith Fairfax lay.

There I paused, trying to conquer the shuddering aversion which still was mine at the thought of again seeing the woman who had brought so much unpleasantness into my life, and who was so linked to the mysterious "Babs," unexplained cause of the blackmail plot against my husband.

"Would you rather wait a bit?" Katherine asked softly, and as I realized that both my friends had seen and understood—my emotion, I stiffened into action.

"No I'm ready now," I whispered back, and at my low knock, Miss Whitlock's voice sounded a mild, yet unmistakable challenge.

"Who's there?" she asked.

"Madge Graham," I answered, and we all three heard the gasping eager "Oh!" in Edith's husky, tremulous voice.

"Are you alone?" she asked.

"Say 'yes'," Lillian murmured, and on the word she and Katherine rushed noiselessly around the corner of the hall.

"All alone," I answered.

"Then come in please," Miss Whitlock said, and I made the mental comment that she evidently did not wish to turn her back upon Edith even for so short a space as would be necessary to turn to the door and open it.

Finally I forced my shaking fingers to a steady clasp of the door know, and, pushing the door open, entered the room. Miss Whitlock moved toward the foot of the bed.

"Come over here," the nurse said. "She needs you."

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, September 13.

This promises to be a day of enterprise and initiative, to be pushed to the best of the energies, but observing some discretion as to outlay of funds and extravagance, as the tendency to over-enthusiasm might carry beyond the depths of finance. There is need for reserve and restraint all along the line. Be cautious with papers, letters, all writings, since there are hints of treachery or misconstruction. There are auguries for intrigue and subtlety.

Those whose birthday it is may have an active and enterprising year in which much productive work may be accomplished. However it would be disastrous to take chances with finances, or to indulge in extravagance or overzeal. Also there is presage of duplicity, fraud or misrepresentation with letters, contracts and documents. Intrigue and subtlety abound.

A child born on this day although having enterprising tendencies yet may feel a sense of limitation, depression and frustration. It may lean toward doing things the easiest way. It will be kindly and generous, perhaps to the point of overdoing.

SECRET WEAPON PRESERVED OLD EASTERN EMPIRE

By means of it the Byzantine or Eastern Roman empire ruled the Mediterranean and kept alive classical civilization for 1,000 years after Rome had fallen to barbarians.

The secret was guarded so well that chemists and military experts can only guess its composition today.

Used chiefly as a naval weapon, "Greek fire" was shot from siphons heralding the flame throwers of the first World war.

Water could not quench it. Projected from the tubes of the Byzantine biremes, it set on fire the ships of the Saracens at Cyzicus and assured their defeat. No fleet could stand against the "sea fire" of Byzantium.

Greek fire is supposed to have been invented by an architect named Callinicus (648-85), who had gone to Constantinople from Syria.

Modern military men believe it was composed of such materials as sulphur and naptha with quicklime, and took fire spontaneously when wetted. It was projected and ignited by applying the hose of a water engine to the "breech" of the siphon, a wooden tube cased with bronze.

It was the mainstay of an empire thought corrupt and decadent, which by means of this "secret weapon" endured for centuries.

The Maya calendar of 18 months of 20 days each, with five days additional each year, still is used in the interior of Guatemala.

PLANTING ERROR

BRISTOL, Conn. — (NS) — Dr. Benjamin R. Robbins, health officer, is responsible for this story.

He said a man in Bristol took particular care of a dozen "tomato" plants he had in his garden. When the plants failed to produce fruit, he called in a neighbor. Upon examination, the neighbor readily identified the "tomato" plants as ragweed, scourge of hay-fever sufferers.

RED CROSS WORKERS VOLUNTEER 6,700 HOURS IN TWO MONTHS

Approximately 500 volunteer Red Cross workers gave 6,724 hours of service during the months of July and August in producing garments for war relief, the July and August report of the Red Cross showed today.

Garments produced during July were: five convalescent robes, 18 women's heavier dresses, 38 girls' heavier dresses, 44 women's sweaters, 20 mufflers, 10 shawls, and 18 layettes.

During August the following garments were completed: 30 hospital bed shirts, 20 operating gowns, 15 convalescent robes, 14 women's dresses, 34 children's dresses, 10 shawls, 50 children's sweaters, 20 men's sweaters, six women's sweaters, and 21 layettes.

Additional garments made by Mrs. L. W. Olson and committee included: four baby comforts, two baby blankets, 32 children's gowns, one baby jacket ,two pair wool mittens, and two head bandanas.

In addition, 10,999 surgical dressings have been completed and a total war relief fund of $12,409.53 has been raised by Richland county chapter.

During the summer months the Junior Red Cross members have had their own production room under the supervision of Miss Lucille Lorow and have been taught to knit, wind yarn, piece quilts from scraps of materials and make afghans.

L. W. Birch will again lead the county roll call, it was revealed in the report.

GIVES MEDALS

OTTAWA, Can.— (NS) —David Lyle, 73-year-old retired sergeant-major of engineers, has contributed his entire treasure of medals, trinkets and a $5 bill toward Canada's war efforts.

"All I ask," he said in making the donation, "is a rifle so I can watch for parachutists."

Ohio Farmers Raising Smallest Corn Crop Since 1934

BAD WEATHER MAKES LARGE CUT IN YIELD

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS — Ohio farmers this fall will harvest their smallest corn crop since 1934, the Ohio co-operative crop reporting service estimated today.

Burned by drought after late planting due to a wet spring, the corn yield will approximate 111,000,000 bushels, 50,000,000 fewer bushels than were produced in the state last year, Glenn S. Ray, chief statistician of the service, opined.

Other agriculture leaders said an even further reduction may result in the generally cold weather now prevailing throughout the state. An early frost would play havoc with the late crop which was unaffected by the drought, they said.

"Corn prospects this season," said Ray, "are extremely uneven over the state with conditions poorest in central and southwestern counties. In contrast to many fields promising very satisfactory yields there is also much corn which will give only a poor to fair yield. Some will produce little, if anything at all.

"Considerable corn is rather late and subject to damage should there be an early killing frost."

The indicated yield per acre is for 34.5 bushels as compared with the 50-bushel average of last year, the crop service statistician said.

Although 578,000 acres of soybeans were planted this year as compared with 461,000 acres in 1939, the dry and hot weather of August will reduce production approximately 1,000,000 bushels, Ray estimated.

"Many fields are extremely weedy and many crops are late," he said. "There is also complaint of reduced set of pods and of beans per pod due to high temperatures at blossoming time."

In 1939, Ohio produced 9,681,000 bushels of soybeans. This year, indications are for an 8,670,000-bushel crop, Ray said.

Hay also was hit by the dry August, Ray said. Increased acreage, however, is expected to increase the yield to 3,991,000 tons from the 3,577,000 tons harvested in 1939. Pastures as of Sept. 1 averaged but 62 per cent of normal, as compared to 79 per cent on Aug. 1.

ASHLAND—Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Riffle of south of Polk will observe their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, having open house from 2 p. m. until 4 p. m.

The couple lives two and one-half miles south of Polk, and on Sunday will greet their many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Riffle were married in Wayne county and began their housekeeping there; the latter part of their married life has been spent in Ashland county.

They have five children, Ralph Riffle of Strasburg, Bertus Riffle at home, Mrs. Harve Shreck of Nankin, Stewart G. Riffle of Ashland and Mrs. O. H. Martin of Shreve

COUPLE WED

Bucyrus Romance Grows Out of O. S. U. Chemistry Lab.

BUCYRUS—The home of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Baker, Hopley avenue, was the setting for the wedding last Saturday of their youngest daughter, June, who became the bride of E. Reed Lang, son of Mrs. Edna Lang of Sioux Falls, S. D.

Members of the immediate family witnessed the service read by the Rev. John D. Green of Berea, former Bucyrus pastor. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. T. Morelad, brother-in-law and sister of the bride.

The bride, who is a graduate of Bucyrus high school, is now associated with Chemical Abstracts at Ohio State university, where Mr. Lang is in the chemistry department while studying for his doctor's degree in chemistry. He is a graduate of the South Dakota School of Mines.

HIGHWAY SALAD RECIPE GIVEN

Truck Collision Spreads Big 'Dish' On Pavement.

AMES, Ia. — (AP) — Two truckers collaborated on this recipe for "highway salad:"

Spread six tons of cabbage on the highway, pour on 100 gallons of gasoline, 100 gallons of kerosene and season well with a dash of oil.

FROSH WEEK

ASHLAND—A special three-day program for incoming freshmen went into effect at Ashland college today, and is scheduled to continue through Friday and Saturday, as a preparation for the new term, which starts here Wednesday, September 18.

New students will be inducted into the "Ashland Plan" of individualized instruction, which has met success in the six years that it has been in operation.

WYLLIE NAMED PRESIDENT OF PUBLIC PARKS ASSOCIATION

Ed. Wyllie was elected president of the Mansfield Public Parks association at the organization's annual meeting last night at North Lake park.

Dan R. Wolff was elected vice president; Zane Wilson, secretary, and Floyd Fighter was re-elected treasurer.

Wyllie has been active in parks affairs in Mansfield in recent years and during the past year was chairman of the Parks association's program committee.

Roy Vaughn and Gordon Schwan were appointed last night to arrange installation ceremonies for the new officers on Oct. 9. It has not been decided where the ceremonies will be held.

Wyllie said he would announce the personnel of association committees on the night the officers are installed.

Plans were made last night to continue the Parks association dances at the coliseum during the winter, holding one every month. The first dance will probably be scheduled for the last of September.

HEAR PROGRAM

CRUISERS GET PARKING TAGS

Irate Citizen Finds Line-up of Cars In Barred Area.

TOLEDO—(INS)—The city of Toledo today was faced with paying itself $1 for each tag placed on police cars when a citizen discovered they were in a "no parking" zone after he had paid a fine for a similar offense.

The annoyed violator stormed into Police Sergt. George Kerwin's office when he saw the solid line of police cars in the restricted area outside the police station and demanded the cops' cars be tagged.

Kerwin so ordered but he admitted he wasn't sure who would pay. He pointed out that the judge may decide police cars have a right to park beside the police station.

FINAL WORDING OF DRAFT BILL DECIDED UPON

Top Age Limit Placed at 35; 60-Day Delay Scrapped; Quick Passage Seen.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Quick enactment of peacetime conscription for men from 21 through 35 was believed near today as a joint senate and house committee met to draft its report on a compromise compulsory military training bill.

The report will go to both houses for final action, and the congressional consensus was that it would be accepted promptly—perhaps before the week-end.

Scuttling a house provision for a 60-day delay in the draft, and compromising differences on age limits, the six senators and five house members reached an agreement last night on a common version of the legislation which both branches of congress previously approved in different forms.

The senate had fixed the age bracket at from 21 through 30, the house from 21 through 44. The conferees made the maximum age 35.

Thus, when and if the bill finally becomes law, approximately 16,500,000 men will be called upon to register for service. When the physically unfit, those with dependents and those who hold essential jobs in industry or agriculture are weeded out army officials estimated 5,000,000 men would be eligible for a year's intensive training.

President Roosevelt may call these, it was explained, in any age classes the army desires. Registration of the 16,500,000 is expected to take place within 15 days after congress makes funds available and the first contingent of 75,000 probably would be inducted into service shortly after Oct. 15.

The measure approved by the conferees provided also for commandeering industry if that should become necessary in a national crisis. Revising a house provision the conferees provided in general that the government might take over, on a rental basis, plants where the owner refused to give preference to government orders or refused to manufacture defense materials.

The revised section, however, hedged this power about with the restriction that before such drastic action could be taken the president must first find that "public danger" is immediate, imminent and impending, and the emergency in the public service is extreme and imperative.

The conferees' action in striking out a house-approved clause to delay conscription for 60 days while attempts were made to fill the army's quota with voluntary enlistments seemed to hold almost the only prospect for controversy when the conference report is submitted to the two houses.

Chairman Sheppard (D.-Tex.) of the conferees said the committee's report would be submitted to the senate during the day.

FARMERS ELECT

Ashland County Group Picks Officers for Year.

ASHLAND—At an election held by county farmers, J. W. Staman of Ashland R. D. 1 was re-elected as chairman of the Ashland County AAA committee, re-elected with him were Earl Hunter, Loudonville R. D. 1, as vice chairman; Robert W. Landis of Nova, third member of the committee and Miss Mary Klepser, as secretary treasurer.

Elected as first alternate to the committee was Wade Welch of Polk and as second alternate, John E. Stephens of Ashland R. D. 2.

Carnegie Tech Scientists Also Make Asphalt or Coke From Grass.

DETROIT—(AP)—In less than two hours time, grass, leaves, seaweed, wood, molasses and cornstalks are changed into coal or oil by a new process announced here today from the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh.

In two hours these Pittsburgh scientists are doing what takes nature millions of years. Their work is the most dramatic in the long history of artificial production of coal, oil and gasoline. Their grass oils make good grade gasoline.

The report was made to the American Chemical society by Dr. Ernst Berl, research professor at the institute.

The raw materials are heated, under pressure, with limestone and other similar chemicals. The heat and the pressure abolish time almost literally.

The scientists, waiting to open the baking retorts, can have either coal or oil, as they choose. They can also have, instead of these, asphalts and good coke of the kind used by the nations great steel companies.

The cost, Dr. Berl said, is less than the world-famous processes, now used widely in Europe to convert coal into oil and gasoline. But the costs are not low enough to undersell America's present rich natural supplies of oil and coal.

The biggest item of expense in sight is the cost of transporting these raw materials from the farms to the coal and oil making machines.

Soft coal is made in one hour in the Pittsburgh laboratory.

Dr. Berl foresees the farmer of the future selling the coal and oil-making crops to a central plant just about as he now sells sugar beets to beet plants.

OIL PROMISES COMEBACK FOR DROUTH STATE

Nebraska Sees 'Black Gold' Supplementing Grain Resources of Land.

FALLS CITY, Neb.—(AP)—Long dependent upon the agricultural wealth of its corn and wheat and livestock, this drouth-devastated state is awaking just in time to the promise of another harvest from its land—oil.

"Black gold" holds for Nebraskans not so much the frantic lure of a get-rich-quick strike. Rather it offers a reliable supplement-industry for a people whose crops have been ravaged and whose fortunes have been depleted by dust storms and hot winds and grasshoppers and insufficient rain for the past six years.

In the past decade, Nebraska's population slumped 63,000 to a 1940 total of 1,313,000; its number of farms dwindled from 129,758 to 122,915; its total valuation fell from $2,047,000,000 to $1,922,000,000 last year alone.

Fast becoming a part of the "dust bowl" because of its sole reliance upon agriculture, this state now turns to oil with open arms.

Oil Capital In Falls City.

And Falls City is its budding oil capital. Already a boom town, with thousands of dollars in profits from the feverish activity that has followed the discovery of the first producing Nebraska well last November, it has hope of more and more prosperity as the oil industry gathers momentum. Richardson county, in the southeastern corner, joining Kansas on the south and the Missouri river on the east, is the site of the Nebraska oil-bearing strata. It is a continuation of the Forrest City oil basin that may extend farther up into central Nebraska, as some observers believe.

Leasing and drilling operations have spread to adjoining counties, and the successful operations in this field have added new life to scattered attempts to find an oil level in the western section of the state.

Since oil was struck on the R. H. Boice farm three miles west of Falls City by the Pawnee Royalty company, six producing wells have been brought in. Five dry holes have been drilled, and five more wells now are being sunk.

State Votes Bonus.

Although this claim to the rank of an official oil state falls far below the record of hundreds of wells in Illinois, Texas and Oklahoma, Nebraska became an official producer in its own eyes at least when the state legislature's authorization of a $15,000 state bonus to the first well producing 50 barrels daily for 60 consecutive days, found a claimant.

The Frederick Bucholz well, biggest producer thus far, easily pumped three times that amount and its owners—W. A. Guinn and B. G. Guinn—expect to receive the money after the next session of the legislature makes an appropriation.

The Pawnee company plans to step up production at the Bucholz as soon as marketing problems, which are the main difficulty now, are met.

The six wells already have a potential total yield of more than 2,000 barrels daily, but none is producing at capacity because of inability to sell the crude. The Searle Refining company of Omaha, purchaser for the Bucholz well oil, lacks capacity to handle the output. Falls City, Omaha and Lincoln are making plans to set up refining plants, which would have a convenient marketing outlet for the refined product, via Missouri river barges to Kansas City.

Prayer of Thanks

BATES APPROVES

Chief Commends Attitude of Motorists in Program.

Praising the attitude of Mansfield motorists, Police Chief Meade K. Bates today said his department had been receiving excellent co-operation from drivers in the campaign to make streets in the vicinity of city schools especially safe.

A week ago, Bates warned that drivers would be expected to exercise especial caution in these areas and notified members of the police force to enforce traffic regulations rigidly.

Bates said he appreciated the co-operation and meant to see that the safety program continued. "In fact," he said, "motorists had better co-operate in this drive—or else. . . ."

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Teachers and parents will find the best uses for the new books this week, but children may give them welcome too. They are both collections of stories. Through the use of such books as these many stories may be provided for the readers who find that a single story is too short and a book-length story is too long.

STORY PARADE—The Story Parade magazine which is issued monthly and which always may be borrowed from the library, includes many modern short stories for children. Many of them are later illustrated and appear as separate picture books. In addition, the best of them with a few poems are published together every year in a large book which is also called "Story Parade." This makes a nice gift book as well as a pleasant one to find on library shelves.

ANIMAL STORIES by Walter De La Mare—These stories are fairy tales about animals being a new collection of old favorites. Mr. De La Mare has rewritten some of the stories and he has made a fine selection of short poems which he has inserted between the stories. The book is most useful for reading aloud or story-telling.

PUTS UP FIGHT

BERKELEY, Cal.—(INS)—John Asako, Japanese gardener, found a giant skunk berthed in his truck. He attempted to dislodge it with a rake and then by shooting it with an air rifle. The skunk turned tail and retaliated. Damaged but undaunted, Asako got some cotton soaked with chloroform and threw it in the truck. The skunk ate it with relish and then curled up for a snooze. The fumes wafted around and Asako went to sleep, too. Came neighbors, police, poundmasters, etc., all holding their noses. The skunk was captured and Asako awakened. "Scuze pliss, I smell," remarked Asako needlessly.

POSTWOMAN

Girl of 16 Carries Mail In Great Britain.

GLYNDE, Eng.—(U.P.) Sixteen-year-old Rosemary Smith is Britain's youngest postwoman.

She took the job when the village postman became a constable.

"I think it is great fun going round and seeing everybody," Rosemary said.

Every morning at 7 o'clock, Rosemary, wearing a jacket and trousers, trundles out her bicycle and starts her rounds, her mail-bag slung over a shoulder.

She has only one complaint

"They haven't given me a uniform yet," she explained. "I think I deserve something, even if it's only an armlet."

WPA CLASSES TO TEST LEARNING IN MOCK EXAM

Central Ohio Supervisor To Act as Judge for Group Tonight.

The next citizenship examination in Richland county will not be until Oct. 2, but members of the county's three WPA classes in citizenship are going to conduct an examination of their own at the courthouse tonight so they will know what's ahead of them.

With John G. Olmstead of Columbus, Central Ohio WPA supervisor, acting the judge's part, the mock examination is due to get under way shortly after 6 p. m. It is expected to last for four or five hours.

Ross Sciarratta, one of the county WPA citizenship instructors, will be the examiner. Two other teachers, Mrs. Christine McCreary and Mrs. Gladys Bauman, will be clerk and bailiff, respectively.

A number of persons who have applied for citizenship papers will take the examination, while others in the classes will be spectators.

Questions pertaining to government and its functions will be asked, giving the applicants an idea of what will be expected of them when they go before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston next month.

Citizenship classes will be started soon in Shelby and Crestline, WPA adult education officials said. Warren Loomis is in charge of the program in Richland county. He has headquarters at the Carpenter school.

In addition to the citizenship classes, there are two WPA instructors in elementary subjects at the Mansfield reformatory, three at the CCC camp southeast of the city and one teaching homemaking at Lucas.

Westinghouse Says Business In August Sets Record.

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company announced that its August business, bolstered by defense contracts, reached $57,352,054, comprising the "biggest month" in its history.

As a result, the company's employment, 52,300 at the beginning of last month, is approaching the peaks of 1929 and 1937. Its best previous month of business was $50,000,000 in October, 1917.

George H. Bucher, president, said that although $36,000,000 of the August business represented federal preparedness orders, the advance "reflects generally improved business activity among our industrial, public utility and merchandising customers."

DEFENSE BRINGS TATTOOING BOOM

'Artist' Reports 100 Per Cent Jump In Business.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. —(AP)— Defense emphasis has produced a minor boom in tattooing.

"Business," says Charles B Hamilton ("Prof. Delerno" to the profession) "has jumped 100 per cent in three months.

"Youths thinking about entering the services, and a lot already in, have been flocking in for flags, eagles and other patriotic designs."

Nazis In England—Their Fighting Over

THEATERS

Dramatic Story.

Does a woman ever really know the man she loves? That's one of the intriguing questions posed in the vital drama played by Joan Bennett, Francis Lederer, Lloyd Nolan and Anna Sten. In the film "The Man I Married" which plays through Friday at the Ohio. Joan finds the husband she adored, Francis Lederer, a stranger to be hated and feared. Abounding in dramatic surprises the film drives through to an unforgettable climax.

* * *

Thrills in Airways.

Exciting thrills in the air, strong romantic interest and powerful drama mark the entertainment ingredients of "Men Against the Sky," stirring story of modern aviation, showing through Friday at the Madison. Richard Dix, Kent Taylor, Edmund Lowe and Wendy Barrie are co-featured in this action adventure. The second attraction is "Girl From Avenue A" with Jane Withers in the lead.

* * *

Rocky Mountain Rangers

Lawlessness in the "Panhandle" territory of what is now Oklahoma, forms the basis of the action of "Rocky Mountain Rangers". The Three Mesquiteers, Duncan Renaldo, Bob Livingston and Raymond Hatton, are featured. The co-feature film is "The Last Alarm" in which J. Farrell MacDonald, Polly Ann Young and Warren Hull are starred.

* * *

Exciting Double Bill.

"The Secret Seven," which opens Friday for a two day run at the Majestic theater, features Florence Rice, Bruce Bennett and Barton MacLane. It is a thrill-packed tale of "seven against crime." Seven miracle men of science become minute men of law and order to rid their city of killers who have ruthlessly preyed on the citizenry. The co-feature is "Gun Code," starring Tim McCoy.

* * *

Story of Air Hostesses.

"Flight Angels," a film of the skyways, is showing beginning Friday at the Ritz. It is a story of airline hostesses with stars Jane Wyman and Wayne Morris, Virginia Bruce, Dennis Morgan, Ralph Bellamy and more than 100 lovely young women are also in the cast. The second attraction shows the three Mesquiteers in "Covered Wagon Days," featuring Robert Livingston, Raymond Hatton and Duncan Renaldo.

BROMFIELD TALKS AT LUNCHEON CLOSING LUMBERMENS MEETING

A luncheon at Westbrook Country club concluded yesterday's 90th semi-annual meeting of the Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company, home offices of which are in Mansfield.

Following the luncheon Charles H. Keating, president of the company, introduced Louis Bromfield who gave a short talk in which he summarized his views on conscription and replied to questions touching on present world conditions.

This is a time, Bromfield suggested, for all Americans to be "as non-political as possible" and to realize the necessity of defending democracy from the inside as well as from the outside.

"Mediocrity in congress," Bromfield said, "is one of the most serious weaknesses in the present operation of American government—and in this, Ohio leads the way.

"It was corruption in France that led to that nation's downfall, and a similar condition exists in our own country, although possibly not to the extent now that it did at some times in the past.

Referring to military conscription, Bromfield said: "Service in CCC camps would be the best possible thing that could happen to all young men, regardless of financial needs, and conscription for military training would bring benefits in discipline and physical buildup, in addition to meeting defensive needs."

Uniting the defensive power of the United States and Great Britain is regarded by Bromfield as justified on the basis of need for strong policing against forces seeking to destroy democracy in the world.

Application of a system by which all young men might receive a year of military and physical training after leaving high school or college, was suggested as a long-range program which might hereafter obviate need for preliminary training of older men after they had become settled in employment.

EMBARRASSING

TOLEDO, O. —(INS)— Was this inspector's face red. Patrolman Fred Addis, running toward a fire, passed his inspector who told him to be careful as it was dangerous "up there" and they just carried a fireman out. Replied the policeman, "I carried the guy out." And he sped on.

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't endure it first and "cure" it afterward. Find out what's giving you the trouble.

Chances are it's simple if you eat the super-refined foods most people do: meat, white bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, you should eat a natural "bulk" producing food—such a one as the crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal, Kellogg's All-Bran. Eat it often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

TEACHER'S JOB

Professor Declares Educators Must Teach More Than Fact.

CHICAGO — (INS) — Education fails in its primary purpose if it contents itself with the mere presentation of facts, according to Dr. Daniel A. Prescott, professor of education at the University of Chicago. Dr. Prescott said:

"Scientific study of human development suggests that attitudes, value concepts, esthetic appreciations, moral ideals and the sympathetic understanding of other human beings have a more important bearing upon success, upon mental health, upon sound character and upon good citizenship than any factual learnings.

"Research results imply that where attention in school and at home is focussed primarily upon the factual learnings, very undesirable attitudes and value concepts are likely to be learned incidentally.

"Sometimes it makes children anti-social, sometimes it causes them to shrink from tasks and opportunities; sometimes it leaves them lazy and unmoved."

Davey Charges Bricker 'Chiseling' Social Security

SAYS FEDERAL BOARD PROBED OHIO 'ABUSES'

State Chamber Attacks Sales Tax Repeal as Blow To School System.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—Former Gov. Martin L. Davey, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, charged today that his Republican opponent, Governor Bricker, was "in trouble" with the federal social security board for "chiseling" on payments to applicants for unemployment insurance.

In a statement to newspapers from his Kent home, Davey asserted that the Bricker administration was paying unemployment benefits of $3, $4 and $5 per week instead of the maximum of $15.

Davey contended that following a recent investigation by the board, Bricker had been given until August 26 to "correct abuses," but that "nothing has been done."

Several months ago, records of the bureau of unemployment compensation were examined by investigators of the social security board, but no public report ever was given. The probe was made at the request of John Owens, Ohio CIO president.

"Two representatives of the social security board served notice on Governor Bricker," Davey added, "that he must clean up his abuses, including the inhuman chiseling of the unemployed. They gave him until Thursday of this week to comply with their requirements."

At the same time, officials of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce lashed out at Davey's campaign promise to repeal the sales tax law if he is elected. George B. Chandler, executive vice president of the chamber, said such a move would result in a "breakdown of the Ohio school system."

In a bulletin issued by the chamber, Chandler pointed out that the schools would lose $12,000,000 annually if the sales tax were repealed.

When he suggested that the tax, which now brings in an estimated annual revenue of $50,000,000, be repealed, Davey said he had no substitute plan for replacing the levy to provide operating funds.

To date the Bricker administration has denied all charges made by Davey against various Republican state officials. In weekly statements, Davey has charged "mismanagement, fraud and chiseling" existed in the state liquor, old age pension and other departments.

In a radio speech last Monday, Bricker answered some of Davey's charges and asserted that his administration was "clean" while "political racketeers and shakedown artists" flourished under his predecessor.

Republican legislative leaders were in Columbus today drafting proposals for a GOP platform to be adopted at the party's state convention in Columbus Sept. 18.

The platform is expected to contain an answer to Davey's proposal to eliminate the sales tax.

U. S. To Keep Ohio HOLC Operating; Brunner Stays On

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Officials of the home owners loan corporation said today that because 6,285 Ohio borrowers are delinquent in their payments to the HOLC, the agency has decided against closing the state office in Columbus for the time being.

The office is under the management of state HOLC director, Henry G. Brunner, Mansfield, former Democratic state chairman. It has been reported that he was considering submission of his resignation. Officials said they did not know of Brunner's plans but said the Columbus office would be continued until most of the default cases have been settled.

Eventually, it was said, the Columbus office would be merged with the Cincinnati branch as a regional headquarters for Ohio and West Virginia.

Of the delinquent Ohio accounts borrowers in 1,856 accounts have made arrangements for deferring portions of their obligations. Another 3416 are more seriously in default and in 1013 cases foreclosures are imminent.

The HOLC already has foreclosed on 11,722 of the original 98,557 Ohio borrowers and has sold 8438 of the foreclosed properties. In doing so the corporation took an $8,000,000 loss or an average of $948 per property.

Talmadge Wins Georgia Governorship

As an added dash of color to the night football games to be held at Stadium field this year, 32 Boy Scouts from the various troops throughout the city will serve as ushers. The scouts will be decked out in full regalia and will be under the supervision of Assistant Scout Master Bob Burns of Troop 5. Old timers in the scout office this morning were recalling how they used to usher at the Ohio State football games in Columbus years ago.

Youths at the C. C. C. camp on Lucas road, four miles east of Mansfield, have adopted the name "Camp Rocky Fork" for their new home site and Saturday they are going to celebrate. Open house will be held, Harold C. Lewis, adjutant said, with the public invited to an ox roast to be staged during the afternoon and evening.

* * *

The Mansfield area will have a big crop of buckeyes this year, but they're not good for anything except to uphold Ohio's name as the Buckeye state. The buckeye crop is one the farmers would just as soon see damaged by drought or anything else, since many farmers believe buckeyes are poisonous to livestock. Big trees in Central park, at the corner of the courthouse lawn, and along Marion avenue near Blymyer are literally loaded down with buckeyes which are beginning to ripen.

DIES AT HOME

Miss Mary Hofman Succumbs After Lingering Illness.

Miss Mary Mathilda Hofman, of 20 Clairmont avenue, died Wednesday evening at her home following a lingering illness. Born in Alliance, Miss Hofman had spent most of her life in Mansfield.

She was a member of the First Lutheran church and had been active in Sunday school work until illness forced her to retire three years ago.

Surviving are three sisters, the Misses Anna M., and Jennie A. Hofman at home and Mrs. Fred Berg of Mansfield.

The body was removed to the Finefrock funeral home where services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday in charge of Rev. Grover E. Swoyer of the First Lutheran church. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

DIES AT AGE 76

Mrs. Anna Beierla Had Lived In City All Her Life.

Mrs. Anna Beierla, 76, wife of Charles Beierla and life-long resident of Mansfield, died Wednesday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Kelley, 141 Gibson avenue. She had been ill several months.

Mrs. Beierla is survived by her husband; two sons, Frank W. and Joseph J., both of Toledo; three daughters, Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. A. W. Matthes, both of Mansfield, and Mrs. Frank Hultz of Toledo; two sisters, Mrs. Clara Fisk of Los Angeles and Mrs. Mary Schafer of Toledo; and one brother, Albert Schroeder of Mexico.

The body was taken to the Wappner Funeral home, where services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of the First Lutheran church of which she was a member, will officiate. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

ATTEND RITES FOR SUPERVISOR

Farm Security Offices Closed Here For Funeral of Mrs. Batten.

The district and county Farm Security administration offices in Mansfield were closed today to permit employes to attend funeral services at Summerfield, Noble county, this afternoon for Mrs. Veva Batten, 26, FSA home management supervisor.

Mrs. Batten, whose territory included the northern half of Richland county, was fatally injured Monday in a traffic accident near Upper Sandusky.

At least four FSA employes from Mansfield, including H. B. Swearingen, county supervisor, attended funeral services for Mrs. Batten.

SCOUT TROOP REORGANIZED

Organization For Colored Youths Holds First Meeting.

Troop 7, Johnny Appleseed area's only colored Boy Scout troop, held its first meeting of the year since its re-organization several weeks ago at the gymnasium in the Friendly House last night.

Chester Lindsey and Howard Jester were given their Tenderfoot badges by C. G. Silcott, neighborhood commissioner, while a review of the history of Troop 7 was read by J. D. Middlebrook, one of its original members.

Watermelon and other refreshments were served and motion pictures of Scout activities were shown to the gathering by Floyd Dent, Scout executive of the area, as a part of the entertainment.

Plans for the winter were outlined and it was stressed that all colored boys 12 years old and over are eligible to join the troop, Dent said.

SOLUTION OF THEFTS SEEN

East Liverpool Wants Two Men Arrested In Pennsylvania.

EAST LIVERPOOL—(U.P.)—The arrest of two Michigan men at Bethlehem, Pa., was believed by police today to solve several robberies in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Police Chief Hugh McDermott said he would ask the Columbiana grand jury to indict the suspects, identified as Leslie Fuller, 24, and Kenneth E. Wade, 31, Northville, Mich.

They were said to have admitted robbery of a cigaret vending machine truck here on Aug. 27. The loss was $153.

SEEKS FUND

The board of trustees of the Seventh Day Adventist church, Mansfield, had filed a petition in Richland county common pleas court today, asking authority to borrow $3,000 to complete a church structure on Cline avenue.

The petition, filed by William Dress, Harry Foster, and Edward Adams, trustees, asks authority to give a mortgage on the church [illegible] to obtain the loan.

TRIGGER-MAN CRAZED BY FEAR OF MOB SEEKS SAFETY IN JAIL

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Vito (Socks) Gurino, one of the long-hunted trigger men of Murder, Inc., was dumped in jail early today screaming for protection from his mob.

He was so crazed with fear it took four policemen to subdue and carry him. His questioning about seven murders of which he is suspected had to be delayed, while he yelled repeatedly, "They're after me."

He was charged with two murders, those of Antonio Siciliano and Cesara Lattaro, slain together in their sleep on Feb. 6, 1939.

Hunted since Feb. 17, when he jumped $5,000 bail on a vagrancy charge just as he was being linked with a Brooklyn borough gang that murdered an estimated 80 persons on a fee basis, Gurino turned up last night in church.

Attracted, apparently, by recent publicity given Rev. Francis Quinn, pastor of the Catholic Church of the Guardian Angel, who received a special congressional medal for heroism from President Roosevelt last week, Gurino ran into the church calling for Rev. Quinn.

Father Quinn, who once entered a room where two gunmen were held at bay by police and talked them into sparing an elderly couple they were holding as hostages, was absent when Gurino arrived. Rev. William Rinschler was present. Gurino asked him for help, saying three killers were after him. Rev. Rinschler called police but Gurino grappled with them and had to be carried away bodily.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing is going to get a good night's sleep tonight for tomorrow will be a crowded day—it's his 80th birthday anniversary.

In better health than in years, the doughty commander of the American Expeditionary Forces plans to leave his comfortable suite, his readings and his writings and make one of his rare appearances at his war department offices.

But this year he feels so well he expects to see any newsmen who want to see him, to make a radio talk to the American Legion and to greet his friends.

At 80 he will be the fifth man in the history of America to have the all embracing rank—general of the armies. Only Washington, Grant, Sherman and Sheridan, were accorded that honor before him.

UNDER KNIFE

Arlin Undergoes Operation At Columbus Hospital.

Word was received here today that Harold W. Arlin, Westinghouse Industrial Relations supervisor, was operated upon yesterday morning at Grant hospital, Columbus.

Friends report that Arlin is "doing nicely." He had been in Columbus for the past week undergoing physical examinations.

FORMER FOE OF FDR RETURNED FOR THIRD TERM

Pledges Support of Party Ticket During Campaign For Nomination.

ATLANTA — (AP) — Eugene Talmadge, one-time outspoken foe of the Roosevelt administration, won a third term as governor of Georgia in a Democratic primary in which he promised voters he would "support the Democratic ticket" in the national election.

Virtually complete, unofficial returns from yesterday's voting showed the lawyer-farmer won another gubernatorial term over two opponents after a four-year retirement. Nomination in the primary is tantamount to election in Democratic Georgia.

Talmadge was given a popular vote of 141,153 for a county unit vote of 346. Columbus Roberts, wealthy Columbus farmer and business man, received a popular vote of 87,205 and a county unit vote of 52. Abit Nix, Athens attorney making his third race for the governorship, trailed with a popular vote of 33,166 which gave him only 12 unit votes.

Under the unit vote system, each county's unit votes go to the candidate polling a popular vote plurality in that county. Talmadge carried 136 of the state's 159 counties, Roberts, 19, and Nix, four, on the basis of returns from 1,465 of the state's 1,720 precincts. The total vote from these precincts was 262,990, less than half of the 540,401 registered voters in the state.

Rep. B. Frank Whelchel, acquitted last spring of charges that he sold postal appointments, appeared assured of re-nomination over three opponents in the ninth district.

JOB INCREASE

Ohio Private Industry Gives 8,089 Work in August.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Private industry gave jobs to an additional 8,089 workers in August, an increase of 15.8 per cent over July. The bureau of employment compensation reported today.

The employment was 18.9 higher than August, 1939.

The number of persons listed as seeking employment, on the other hand, increased 7.9 per cent over July and 32.4 over August, 1939. They totaled 375,826. Administrator H. C. Atkinson attributed the increase in part to a campaign for registration of all skilled and semi-skilled workers for defense purposes.

Ohio paid out $2,113,064 last month in unemployment insurance benefits, a decrease of 9.6 per cent below July and 4.1 under August of last year. The benefits averaged $10.32 a week for total unemployment and $4.86 for partial unemployment.

Falling Plaster Awakens Dreamer of Bomb Attacks

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Mrs. Minnie Schafer sat up in bed until early this morning reading about Adolf Hitler's threats and the bombing of London.

When she finally went to sleep she dreamed the United States was being attacked and German bombers were flying over Columbus.

Suddenly she was awakened by plaster falling from the ceiling and pictures tumbling from the walls of her room. She thought her bad dream had come true, she told police.

Investigation revealed, however, that an automobile had rammed into her parlor which faces a dead-end street. Thomas E. Dearring, 28, the driver, said he had gone asleep at the wheel.

FUNERAL TODAY

Private funeral services are being held at 1:30 p. m. today for Mrs. Carrie Robinson Cady, former Mansfield school teacher, who died early Wednesday at her home in Akron. Interment in Rose Hill cemetery will follow the services in Billows chapel, Akron.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

You Meet Such Interesting People.

Eddy Duchin doesn't get his hair cut for months at a time. Just before he goes on the bandstand, he ruffles it a little with his fingers. . . . George M. Cohan was the first Broadway performer to buy an automobile, but now he frequently rides the subways. . . .

Sammy Renick, the jockey, who likes to hang around the Broadway mob, gives pests the race-track equivalent of a "mickey": he hands them tips on imaginary horses with double-talk names. . . .

Artie Shaw buys a wristwatch almost every time he passes a jewelry shop . . . Prince Serge Obolensky is the most tireless dancer in Manhattan. Runners-up: Dr. Eugene Marcovici, Orson Munn and Al Kavanaugh. . . .

Ethel Merman's father is her most enthusiastic fan. When she's in a show he goes at least twice a week and mouths all the words of all her songs while she's singing them.

* * *

I always thought Arthur Treacher's accent was part of his acting, until I heard him talking on a dance floor one night. He sounded just like Arthur Treacher. . . .

George S. Kaufman is one of the Street's most inquisitive inhabitants. When he visits friends' offices he amuses himself by reading letters and wires left lying around, opening drawers and memo books, and even, on occasion, peering into the files. . .

Sally Rand would rather be a lecturer than a bubble dancer . . . Bill Corum wears a gold horseshoe nail for a stickpin . . . Just before Hildegarde goes on at the Savoy-Plaza, she swallows a glassful of sherry. Just before John Buckmaster goes on in the same room, he goes through the same routine with rye. . .

* * *

Barbara Hutton must eat, sleep and take a shower with her earrings on. I've never seen her when she wasn't wearing a diamond or pearl or gold or emerald ornaments on her ears . . . Henny Youngman talks back to any movie, especially a travelogue. . . Anna May Wong always looks beautiful and well-groomed and faintly sinister, like one of those Oriental film menaces played by Anna May Wong. . . .

Al Jolson is happiest when he's complimented on his ballroom dancing . . . Kay Kyser likes anything on celluloid, and sometimes goes to two double features in one day. . . .

Wini Shaw is the fastest knitter in show business. When she has time, she can knit three sweaters (with sleeves!) in a week . . . Spivy, hostess at the penthouse bistro, used to work as a blackface shouter at Luna Park, Coney Island. Now she entertains the most esoteric of the cafe hounds. . .

* * *

Zorina brings her own ice water to the theater. Brings it all the way from Long Island . . . Pat Harrington, the Club 18 comic, is always forgetting to wear his toupe . . . Every time Linda Darnell is kissed on the screen she blushes, which is why Zanuck would like her to do more technicolor operas.

Lou Ambers, the former lightweight champion, recites corny poetry like "The Kid's Last Fight" at the drop of a hat, or an opponent. . .

John Murray Anderson wears the same old grey sweater, tattered and patched, every day during rehearsals of whatever show he's directing . . . Bea Wain practices her golf swing walking along the streets of the town. Hasn't knocked over a soul, so far. . . .

Bert Lahr, who never gives a bad performance, always says his last performance was his worst . . . Gower and Jeanne, the pert young dance team at the Waldorf, never go anywhere without a cat named Moe.

* * *

Betty Allen can't talk without using her hands—can't even whisper . . . Harry Richman wears a straw hat as if he had invented it . . . Marc Connelly, the producer, is a backgammon fiend. One of the few persons who beats him consistently is Jim Moriarity, the East Side champ. . . .

Clark Gable owns fancy cars from time to time, but the one he really cares for is a battered 10-year-old Ford . . . Robert Taylor likes yellow sweaters. . .

Most unusual on-the-level stunt is performed nightly by orchestra leader Ray Heatherton at whatever spot he's playing. To the puzzlement and amusement of the guests, he suddenly stands on his head. He's been doing it for five years—ever since he heard that Lawrence Tibbett practices standing on his head to clear his throat . . . Stan Laurel, who has had plenty of trouble with his wives, also has a sense of humor. He has his home surrounded by a hedge and four turrets, each turret bristling with little cannon. He calls it "Fort Laurel."

Col. Gonzale Gomez, the astonishing Venezuelan, always has a bodyguard with him. But the bodyguard has to know how to rhumba—because when the Colonel feels too tired to dance, the bodyguard steps in and rhumbas with the Colonel's date. . . .

Jerry Lester, the comedian, halts strangers on the street and tries out his gags on them . . . Peg LaCentra, the radio singing comedienne, weights 93 pounds. When she gets up to 94, she considers herself overweight — and starts dieting! . . .

* * *

If a lad waltzes into a platinum night club in a leather windbreaker, it's either Leif Erikson, the actor, or Barry Wood, the Hit Parader . . . Eddie Cantor always spars with people who visit him backstage—but in a friendly, nostalgic manner. In his youth, he yearned to be a strong man. . . .

Norman Bel Geddes would rather sketch on a table cloth than a drawing board . . . Jimmy Cagney likes farming as well as he likes emoting, if not better. . .

Chatter Corner

Stopping to chat with friends: Ethel and Jack Kindel on Park avenue west . . . Harold Old (Warner's) waving to an acquaintance entering the theater . . . Lydia Thornberry rushing about greeting and seating guests in the main dining room at the Leland . . . Mrs. Lee (Hildagarde) Ballyeat chatting with a friend over a cup of coffee . . . Lunching at noon the other day: Vivian Miller Mosey, Mary Elizabeth Miller, Mary Cox, Mary Garver.

* * *

Madison High's '40 Football Combine Ready to Go

STOPS CHICK DELANEY.

Automotive Supply Club Still Needs Grid Players.

By FRITZ HOWELL

CAMP PERRY—(AP)—One of rifledom's most coveted prizes—a personal letter of commendation from the president of the United States—was up for decision today at the national matches.

* * *

A field of 1,625 of the country's high bracket .30 caliber marksmen were entered in the 30-shot event, which called for 10 shots slow fire standing at 200 yards, 10 shots prone at 600 yards, and 10 prone at 1,000 yards.

* * *

The event was open to the service rifles, the bolt action Springfield and the new Garand semi-automatic.

Sergt. Thomas Jones of the Marines, who scored 147 of 150 to win last year, is defending his laurels. No one has won the event twice in the last three decades.

* * *

A 19-year-old civilian on his second trip to Camp Perry—Arne O. Siedschlaw of Alpena, S. D.—bested approximately 1,000 of the nation's .30 caliber marksmen yesterday with the Garand.

* * *

He scored 74 out of a possible 80 in a "surprise fire" event of 16 shots at 200 yards standing, with targets appearing for three seconds at unexpected moments. Siedschlaw got 6 "V's."

Tribe Faces Boston

Harder Scheduled to Start Against Red Sox; Club Divides Contests.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — The Cleveland Indians are positively overflowing with gratitude for old Charlie Ruffing.

Big Red, 36 years old now, softened up just long enough yesterday to allow the Tribe a standoff in a twin bill with the ambitious Yankees. Thus he kept Cleveland pennant hopes alive for the three-game Boston series opening in the big lakefront stadium today.

Last year he paced New York

Pictured above is the Tyger forward wall Coach Paul Snyder will send into the opening football contest against the Akron West Cowboys at 8 p. m. at Stadium field Friday night. The Tygers, left to right, are Dick Winbigler, right end; Ed Arlen, right tackle; John Weber, right guard; Paul Dietzel, center; Ed Kinkle, left guard; George Murray, left tackle, and Joe Romano, left end. The line will be light, tipping the Toledos around the 155 mark, but Snyder believes it will make it up with speed and fight. Season ticket books for the five home games are on sale and if purchased before the opening game can be secured for $2.50. The books are on sale at Yuncker Sports, Central drug store, Tawse drug store, Brown's drug store and the Mansfield Athletic Supply.

Colonels Beat Columbus Club

Red Birds Lose Chance To Gain in Loop Race.

(By Associated Press)

* * *

St. Paul saw to that last night by again conquering pace-setting Kansas City. However, second-place Columbus could not edge any nearer despite Frank Melton's three-hit pitching. The Red Birds lost to Louisville and Charley Wagner, 1 to 0.

* * *

Only third place Minneapolis was able to take advantage of the situation. The Millers swept a double-header with Milwaukee, 11 to 8 and 7 to 6, to gain a percentage tie with Columbus, which remained three and a half games behind Kansas City.

Kansas City and Columbus each have two more games to play and Minneapolis six.

Wagner, like Melton, permitted three hits. In the seventh Wagner's fly scored Woody Williams from third after the latter had doubled and advanced on an infield out.

Bill Swift brought about Kansas City's downfall, 2 to 1. He allowed five hits and pitched shutout ball until the ninth.

* * *

Minneapolis had to rally twice to whip Milwaukee, scoring four runs in the eighth inning of the opener and three in the last inning of the nightcap.

Westinghouse Teams Battle For Zone Softball Crown

MANSFIELD on Saturday will play host to the annual Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company Zone No. 1 softball tournament in which four company teams will compete.

The tournament will be staged at Liberty park, with teams from Mansfield, Lima, St. Louis, Mo., and Sharon, Pa., competing.

The first semi-final game is scheduled for 10:30 a .m. and the other one at 12:30 p. m. The championship finals are scheduled to get under way at 3:30 p. m. A trip to Pittsburgh to compete in a tournament will be the champion's award.

Golfers Meet In Exhibition Match at Westbrook Today

FOUR of Richland county's top ranking golfers will tee off at 2 p. m. today on the Westbrook Country club course in an exhibition golf match to determine an inter-club champion.

* * *

The four, all champions of their respective clubs, are scheduled to play 18 holes.

They are Bobby Moorhead, Westbrook Country club; Ed Wenninger, Shelby Country club; Vin Malaska, Coolridge Country club, and Joe Mayer, Possum Run club.

Bobby Moorhead, the Westbrook title holder, is a slight favorite to add the inter-club match to his laurels, because of his familiarity with the Westbrook course.

Joe Mayer, the Possum Run representative, however, is expected to give Moorhead the most trouble, because of the sub-par golf he has played during the season in copping the Possum Run title. Mayer, who got his start in golf while a caddie at Westbrook, should not have any trouble in making the rounds of the course.

* * *

Following the match the four players will be guests at a stag dinner at the club at 6:30 p. m. for all those who participated in the annual Westbrook tournament.

* * *

Prizes for titles won in the club match will be awarded, and motion pictures of the Westbrook championship match will be shown. Emerson Weller is chairman of the event.

Madison Township Junior Highs Build Football Teams

JUNIOR high school football will be played for the first time this year in Madison township schools, Madison school officials announced today.

* * *

The Junior high league will comprise three teams, Lincoln Heights, East Mansfield and Woodville, and a three-game schedule has been planned for this fall.

Games will all be played at Madison rural school field and will be added attractions to three Madison Rams home contests. The Junior tilts are scheduled for 6:30 p. m.

First of the tilts is scheduled for Sept. 20 with East Mansfield tackling Lincoln Heights as a preliminary to the Madison-New London game.

* * *

Woodville meets Lincoln Heights Oct. 11 preceding the Madison-Tiffin Junior Order contest, and Oct. 24 winner of the second game will meet East Mansfield as an added attraction to the Norwalk-Madison tilt.

Reds Feel Pennant Is Theirs, Meet Giants Today

Cincy Cops Tilts

Derringer, Walters Mark Up Victories Over Boston Club.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — The Cincinnati Reds, with their lead boosted to nine games, felt they all but had the National league pennant within their grasp as they faced the first of a three-game series with the New York Giants today

* * *

Second place Brooklyn still had a mathematical chance but if the Reds win 10 of their 20 remaining games the Dodgers will have to take all of their remaining 19 contests to be the champions.

* * *

Junior Thompson or Johnny Vander Meer will hurl today against the offerings of Carl Hubbell.

The Reds grabbed two games from the Boston Bees yesterday, 8-0 and 3-1. Bucky Walters' twisters shut out the Bees in the opener and the Cincinnati club's other ace moundsman, Paul Derringer, set the Bostonians down in the afterpiece It was the 19th victory of the season for both hurlers

Ival Goodman led a 10-hit attack with a homer and two singles for Cincinnati in the first game while Walters gave up only four hits.

* * *

Big Paul was cheated out of a shutout in the first round of the nightcap when Boston pushed over a run on Sebby Sisti's double and Johnny Cooney's single.

* * *

Mike Sturicevich hurled on even terms with Derringer for eight rounds But the Reds scored once in the fifth and then bunched three of their eight hits for two more markers in the ninth.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE.

NEW YORK —(UP)— A busher up from Tulsa has made good with the Cubs.

* * *

Thrown in against the tough Brooklyn Dodgers and the tougher Brooklyn fans in his first start since leaving the Texas league, the big fellow pitched a six hitter to win 3 to 2.

He wasn't afraid of Ducky Medwick, Babe Phelps Dixie Walker or any of the other Brooklyn sluggers And the raucous, cruel jeers of the toughest crowd in baseball might just as well have been spoken in a language he didn't understand, for all the difference it seemed to make to him.

Because the busher who made good at Ebbets field yesterday was Dizzy Dean, once of the Majors, late of the minors. For one day at least he experienced the thrill of walking the very last foot of the comeback trail, and of once more stepping into the sun, be it only a sunset.

The Dean of yesterday was hardly recognizable to those fans who came out expecting to see the same old Dizzy, with his arrogance, clowning and jesting manner. He warmed up before the game without so much as a glance at the stands, and once he started working he concentrated on every pitch as though it were going to be his last one on earth He was slow, cautious, and often stopped to study the signals

The big crowd, absolutely devoid of sentiment as only a Brooklyn crowd could be expected to be, rode him unmercifully for the full nine innings I watched the game from the stands, not the press box and from every side of me continual taunts were hurled at the aging athlete trying to regain a bit of his past glory

When the arm that used to be so accurate would walk a man, down from the stands would come the shout "back to Tulsa, you bum."

But the innings kept coming and going and they didn't knock it down his throat Dizzy's arm isn't what it once was, but it's a whole lot better than when the Cubs sent him down to Texas.

He knows how to pitch. He doesn't give the hitters many good balls to hit. He's always slipping across the corners, and mixing 'em up. And the clutch doesn't find him wanting. In the sixth inning, with the bases loaded and two down, he silenced the crowd by striking out Cosearart.

"That was a good one to win" Dizzy told me afterwards "A mighty good one. Yeah, I had pretty good stuff Nay I didn't get tired Even in the ninth there wasn't any zero in my arm It felt good and loose."

Four Tilts on Tap for Football Fans Friday

THE Mansfield Tygers' first home venture in night football tomorrow night at Stadium Field with the Akron West Cowboys tops a four-game grid card in this vicinity as King Football makes his annual appearance.

* * *

The Tyger-Cowboy contest is scheduled for 8 p. m. and will be featured by the dedication of Senior high school's new football lighting plant. All sets are reserved.

At Bellville, the Bluejays who suffered only one defeat last season, will play their first contest under their new coach C L Lindsay, when they take on LaRue.

* * *

Crestline will be batting to protect an eight-game winning streak compiled last year when the Onondagas meets Mt. Gilead under the arcs at Crestline.

* * *

In the other games Tiffin Calvert invades Galion to face the Orangemen under the lights at 8 o'clock, Willard treks to Ashland for a night encounter, and the Shelby Whippets travel to Norwalk to meet Norwalk high at 8 p. m at Norwalk athletic field.

Errors Pave Way For Lima Win In League Playoff Tilt

PRACTICALLY everything under the sun has happened to the Mansfield Braves since the Ohio State league Shaughnessy playoffs opened Tuesday night

* * *

First the pitching failed miserably and the Braves dropped their initial game at Lima. Thursday night. And last night under the floodlights at the Fairground the club committed seven errors as it dropped an 8 to 2 decision to the Pandas before some 75 shivering spectators.

* * *

Mansfield treks to Lima tonight to face the Pandas in the third game and unless Manager Dewey Stover can get some fancy hurling the series will be all over.

In the other Shaughnessy playoff game last night Tiffin edged Findlay, 7 to 5, to even their series at one game each. Tiffin's triumph embraced home runs by King and Boone.

The Braves were held scoreless until the eighth frame when they pushed their two lone tallies across the plate. Held scoreless in the first three innings, Lima opened up in the fourth to score five times. They added two more in the fifth and another in the seventh.

Three Mansfield hurlers, Arnold, Drewek and Benton marched to the mound in an effort to stop the Lima attack.

* * *

They gave up 14 hits, walked four and struck out seven, while Evans was holding the Braves to nine safeties, struck out seven and walked seven. The Braves left 16 runners stranded on bases and Lima 9

TWO OHIO FIGHTERS IN NATIONAL BOXING RATINGS

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—Two Ohio fighters—Buddy Walker of Columbus and Georgie Pace of Cleveland —appeared today on the rating lists of the national boxing association.

Yanks Get Ripe Fruit Pelting

The Indians-Yankee doubleheader in Cleveland took on a ham vaudeville air when Cleveland fans repeatedly hurled overripe fruit and vegetables at the New York players. Baseball observers said it was a retaliatory measure for the abuse the Indians received recently in New York. Coach Art Fletcher of the Yanks is seen sidestepping as a couple of very ripe tomatoes wing over his head. Note lemons and vegetables scattered on ground about him.

NEW COACH TAKES OVER WOOSTER GRID MACHINE

WOOSTER—(AP)—A new era in Wooster college football opened today as the Scot squad was called for 1940 practice—without Coach L C Boles for the first time in a quarter of a century.

THIS ANIMAL CARRIES OWN HUNTING SIGN

CAPLEVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)— It may be a rural adaptation of the picket idea or the city sandwich man. Or it may be merely to keep the animal from sticking its head through the pasture fence.

Stanford Opens 1940 Football Season With New Coaching Staff

By RUSS NEWLAND

PALO ALTO, Calif.—(AP)—Stanford opens its 1940 fall football campaign with a new coaching staff, a new system and new spirits.

* * *

Practically everything is new except the playing field and a batch of holdovers of exceptional talent. It usually takes from two to three years for an incoming coach to get his organization perfected but from the way Clark Shaughnessy had things rolling in spring practice observers would not be surprised to see Stanford in the thick of the Pacific Coast conference fight from the start.

* * *

Stanford football in 1939 was of the "hot and cold" variety. The team looked great in some games and sour in others The machinery was there but it wasn't running as smoothly as had been hoped for Shaughnessy took over with a decidedly unimpressive "won and lost" record in his place season. His 1939 University of Chicago team, was distinguished by the fact it lost games by scores of as high as 85 to 0 before it abandoned intercollegiate football.

At Chicago, however, Shaughnessy had such weak material he had difficulty in rounding up enough players for a second rate team. His ability as a top ranking coach, organizer and leader never was questioned.

His eyes popped open when he gazed at the Stanford turnout last spring. Every morning, before the novelty wore off, he murmured delightedly over his oat meal at the prospect of having a 225-pound fullback who could run like a racehorse, big tackles, some well trained ends and at least two players for every position

In the talent the new mentor inherited was Norm Standlee, potentially the best fullback on the coast last year He should rate with this season Frank Albert, a left handed passer of merit, easily fit in with Shaughnessy's planned attack of quick openers and long gainers. Albert switches from left half to quarterback this season.

Under the new leadership, Stanford's traditional wingback system will not be so much in evidence this fall. Shaughnessy makes use of all styles of play to fit his material. The backfield already has been trained in the Notre Dame "T" formation and the Notre Dame box in addition to the held-over single wingback set-up.

All indications point toward a strong emphasis on the passing game, this phase probably overweighing the power side of the game. The reverses has been true with Stanford teams of the past.

* * *

The team opens it nine-game schedule Sept. 28 with the University of San Francisco in the latter's home stadium. Stanford has no intersectional contests listed this fall.

Golf Meet In Quarterfinals

Women Play in 40th Annual Western Tournament.

SEATTLE, Wash —(UNS)— The 40th annual Women's Western Amateur Golf tournament entered the quarter finals today with National Champion Betty Jameson of San Antanio, Texas, and Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., co-medalist with Miss Jameson, still the pace-setters.

* * *

Miss Jameson had a narrow scrape yesterday when she was carried to 19 holes before defeating Ellamae Williams of Chicago, one up, but Miss Miley breezed through the round with a 5 and 4 triumph over Mrs. Frank Currie of Seattle.

* * *

Other survivors were Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis, Muriel Veach of Longview, Wash., Nancy Hurst of Portland, Ore., Mrs. J. K Priebe of Seattle, Mrs. Harry Mozel Wagner of Portland, Ore., and Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Cal.

Today's pairings were Miss Jameson vs. Miss Hurst, Miss Miley vs. Miss Hicks; Miss Veach vs. Miss Barrett, and Mrs. Wagner vs. Mrs. Priebe.

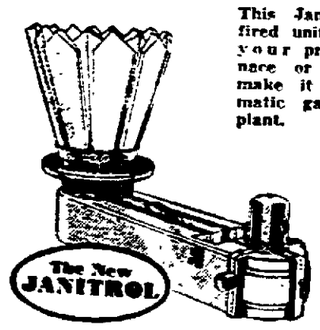
Another picture is presented to those who shovel fuel and ashes—must build fires and be "furnace watchers." Such homes suffer from teeter-totter temperatures and there is an invasion of smoke and soot to defeat your best efforts at keeping things clean.



This Janitrol gas-fired unit fits into your present furnace or boiler to make it an automatic gas heating plant.

Lumbers, All-Stars To Meet in Tilts Sunday.

The Alta Lumber softball combine with a two-game winning streak over the Y. M. C. A. Commercial league All-Stars, will be out to bring their five-game benefit series to a close Sunday afternoon when the two teams tangle in another double-header at Libertey park. The Lumbers took a twin bill from the All-Stars at Liberty park last Sunday to take the series lead. The games are for the benefit of Gene Yarman, Safety Cab club third baseman, who is ill.

Sked Down

Only 47 Games on Tap For Ohio Conference Teams; Had 58 in '38.

By ROBERT OLDS
(United Press Sports Writer.)

COLUMBUS — Is the Ohio college conference disintegrating as a schedule-making organization?

This question—with its attendant one of a "new" conference of Ohio colleges—arose again today with revelation that only 47 Ohio conference football games are booked for this fall.

* * *

The number of games arranged in the big 20-school circuit had fallen off sharply in the last two years. Back in 1936, 1937 and 1938 the total hovered between 57 and 58. Last year it fell to 51 and this year down four more.

* * *

All of which may be the forerunner of several withdrawals from the league by schools who feel their natural and most financially profitable gridiron foes lie outside the conference. Ten schools—one-half of the membership—have scheduled 31 or nearly two-third of the games this fall.

Ohio Northern and Heidelberg, two "small" college standbys, top the list with eight contests each. Wittenberg has seven. Capital, Denison, Mt Union and Wooster, six each, and Bowling Green, Muskingum and Otterbein, five each.

Conspicuous by reason of their meager conference programs this fall are Toledo with two games; Ashland, John Carroll, Case, Findlay, Kent State and Oberlin with three each, and Baldwin-Wallace Kenyon, Marietta, four each

Toledo, Carroll, Kent State and Case in particular have figured in rumblings for formation of one or more new conferences which might embrace such "independent" schools as Western Reserve, Dayton, Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio U and Xavier.

Every responsible source denies, however, that any movement is now formally under way for a new conference grouping.

The composite schedule for Ohio teams discloses more than 200 games on tap this fall for the state's 36 colleges playing football The list includes 110 tilts with schools in 17 other states divided, 57 to be played in Ohio and 53 outside. Alfred Holbrook is the only Ohio college yet to announce its schedule.

The intersectional menu is highly-spiced as usual with such headliners as Wichita at Dayton, Sept. 27; Pittsburgh at Ohio State, Akron at Colgate and Arkansas Poly at John Carroll, Sept. 28 Cincinnati at Navy and Lehigh at Case Oct 5; Marietta at Rutgers, Oct 18; Cincinnati at Boston U Furman at Ohio U, and Scranton at Toledo Oct 19; Ohio State at Cornell and Case at Carnegie Tech, Oct 26; Boston U. at Western Reserve and Carnegie Tech at Cincinnati Nov 2 Toledo at Long Island U, Nov 23

* * *

Night football again makes advances with 40 contests scheduled under the lights, about a 25 per cent gain over last year. Nearly all of them will be played in September and October.

Incidentally, an Ohio eleven opens the national as well as state collegiate season tonight when Youngstown college entertains Geneva in a night encounter The rest of the Ohio outfits wait until Sept 26-27 and 27-28 to open

Bucks Ready To Go

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — On only the third day of practice, Coach Francis Schmidt scheduled the initial scrimmage today for his impatient Ohio State gridiron huskies.

* * *

The season's inaugural "contact party" was moved up two days by the Buckeye mentor when he decided his squad was on a physical "edge" that might lead to staleness under continued signal drills.

* * *

So this afternoon, the varsity "A" squad goes into action against the reserve "B" outfit in the first scrimmage of the season.

The reserves may be in for an unpleasant time in the first unveiling of the "triple-triple-threat" varsity backfield studded with Don Scott, Jim Langhurst and Jim Strausbaugh, all of whom can run, pass and kick the pigskin.

* * *

Ex-Champions Still In Meet

3 Former Titlists Remain In Amateur Golf Tourney.

By GAYLE TALBOT

MAMARONECK, N. Y —(AP)— Three former champions and the present titleholder Marvin (Sud) Ward of Spokane Wash., still were in their pitching as the starters [illegible] out at it again today in the National Amateur Golf championship at Winged Foot club

* * *

Two of the ex-champs—Jess Sweetser, '22, and Johnny Fischer, '36—were paired in the first of the day's two 18-hole rounds. Willie Turnesa, 1938 winner, also turned back his first two opponents yesterday.

* * *

The only highly regarded player missing after the frightful carnage of the first two rounds was Art Doering of Chicago. Ranked in the second group of hot contenders, right behind Ward, Doering failed to get going and was ousted by Otto Greiner of Baltimore 5 and 4.

* * *

Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, runner-up twice in three years, still was among those present, though he had a narrow escape when he had to go 23 holes to eliminate Bill Dear, jr., of West Orange, N. J.

* * *

Wilford Wehrle of Chicago, who the professionals say is the most mechanically perfect player among the amateurs, still was around. Also Frank Stratici of Great Neck N Y.; Pat Abbott of Pasadena; Dick Chapman of Winged Foot tournament medalist, and Maurice McCarthy, jr., Cincinnati star.

Winner of Tilt In Playoffs

Akron-Youngstown Victor To Face Dayton Club.

(By Associated Press)

With Dayton already occupying a finals berth, fans of the mid-Atlantic league turned their attention to tonight's Akron-Youngstown game The winner will meet the Wings for the league championship

* * *

Dayton disposed of its preliminary series opponent last night by shutting out Charleston, 3 to 0, for its third victory in the three-out-of-five affair. The West Virginia team took only one game.

* * *

The Wings scored two runs in the fourth inning with a single and doubles by Meyer and Cotelle, and added the final marker in the sixth on Cotelle's second double, a fielder's choice and an infield out

The Akron Yankees faced Youngstown, 4 to 2, in the fourth game of their series, giving each team two victories. The rubber city boys scored all their runs in the first inning on a single, an error, three more singles and a walk

American League Struggle Still Unfathomable Mess

By JUDSON BAILEY

THE hysterical finish of the American league is being compared with the customary September struggle of the National league, but it isn't the same.

* * *

There's no crackup in the breath-taking battle that's going on now in the junior circuit, which never has known anything like this in its 40-year history.

* * *

For a week three strong clubs have been grappling for first place always within a couple of games or less of each other.

The Detroit Tigers clawed their way back to the top yesterday by overpowering the Boston Red Sox 11-7, while the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees divided a double header.

Club	W	L	Pct	GB	TP
Detroit	78	58	574	—	18
Cleveland	77	58	570	½	19
New York	76	58	567	1	20
Boston	73	63	537	5	18

Today Detroit defends its lead against the world champion Yankees in the first of a three-game series while the Red Sox and Indians open a similar set in Cleveland

Detroit had the kind of a ding-dong game yesterday you would expect when the Tigers and Red Sox collide. There were 32 hits, eight pitchers and the lead fluctuated until Hank Greenberg hit his 31st homer with one on in the last of the fifth.

The Chicago White Sox caught up with Dutch Leonard, who had handcuffed them five times, and whipped the Washington Senators, 7-4 with a 14-hit assault led by Joe Kuhel

Eldon Auker and George Caster put on five-hit pitching performances but the St. Louis Browns' hits included a homer, two triples and a double, and they shutout Philadelphia, 5-0.

The Cincinnati Reds opened their lead in the National league to nine full games by sweeping a doubleheader from the Boston Bees, 8-0 and 3-1, while the Brooklyn Dodgers were losing a pair to the Chicago Cubs, 8-5 and 3-2.

Dizzy Dean is back in the National league, by hurling six-hit ball for the Cubs' second triumph over the Dodgers. But his sidearm stuff looks about the same as that which he used last spring before going to Tulsa in the Texas league to try to cure his arm trouble. He had good control and certainly should, but none of it like his former fast one to its fourth straight American league championship with 21 victories and seven defeats. But things are different, or as Ruffing calmly says, "This is 1940."

The slugging St. Louis Cardinals gouged the New York Giants twice, 7-4 and 3-2, getting 17 hits in the opener and taking the nightcap on Terry Moore's home run in the ninth inning.

* * *

"I know how to lose," Ruffing says. "I was with Boston six years before I went to New York in 1930."

Bob Feller was beaten in the first game while trying for his 25th decision. In outpitching Feller Bonham posted his sixth triumph. The 3-1 decision ran to 160 the string of batters Bonham has faced without giving a walk.

Lefty Al Smith was in plenty of trouble in the second game, cut to five and a half innings because of rain and darkness but posted his 14th win of the season, a 5 to 3 one over Ruffing.

Big Red was going fine when an error by Babe Dahlgren placed Ben Chapman on second base with one man down in the third inning. Before another batter was retired, five runs came in on doubles by Roy Weatherly and Beau Bell, singles by Jeff Heath and Ken Keltner, and Ruffing's error.

* * *

That was the ball game and the 33,471 noisy fans, some of whom threw lemons, tomatoes and other fruit at Yankee Coach Art Fletcher and Manager Joe McCarthy, made the most of it, turning loose a couple of flares and shooting off guns or firecrackers.

Texas Recruits Want To Serve Far From Home

EL PASO, Tex. —(U.P.)— The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence, according to the old adage, and many recruits who enlist in the army prefer foreign climes to a nearby post.

This is the experience recruiting officers at Fort Bliss America's largest cavalry post near El Paso, have had in checking and registering recruits.

As a result the recruiting office has difficulty filing its quota for the local unit from enlistments. Many youths who enlist at El Paso want to serve in Honolulu or China or some other spot, instead of Fort Bliss.

In the East, however, there are recruits who ask to be assigned to the romantic Mexican border.

Officers say that many recruits come from West Texas, New Mexico and Arizona to Fort Bliss, but a great number are from other sections farther away, as many enlistments in the Fort are young men who start west looking for work and can't find it.

According to figures released in Washington, Texas and Kentucky supply more recruits per population than other states. Their enlistments run to 10 per cent of the eligibles.

The man never lived who didn't at some time in his life expect to invent something that would make him rich

Felt That I Must Tell of Great Relief 'Vendol' Gave

McPherson Avenue Lady Relieved of Pains Once More and Awful Gas in Stomach Only a Memory Since Vendol Relieved Constipation.

"For some time I had been uncomfortable almost daily from constipation, which caused a long train of other troubles and kept me upset most of the time," says Mrs. Elizabeth Kober, residing at 121 McPherson avenue, Mansfield "One result was that my legs pained so badly I could get no relief either walking, sitting down, or lying down. At night I'd roll and tumble for hours unable to get much rest, then next morning I'd feel weak and limp.

"Another was that so much gas formed in my stomach that it pressed around my heart, causing shortness of breath and palpitation, and felt like I might smother, and my head swam and ached till I could hardly stand up

"I began on Vendol and I feel I have found the right thing to put me on the road to recovery. It gave me thorough elimination and now the dizzy, splitting headaches, gas in stomach, constipation no longer bother me, and my legs and body are once more free, and the trouble gas on my stomach has entirely disappeared, too, and I enjoy fine, restful sleep. I am so much better and stronger in every way that I want other sufferers to know what this wonderful medicine has done and is doing for me."

MRS. ELIZABETH KOBER

WORKMAN HEADS NATIONAL DOG WEEK IN CITY

Atty. C. H. Workman, Mansfield, had been appointed today to arrange the observance of National dog week in the Mansfield area during the week of Sept. 22.

Atty. Workman said the observance here will be sponsored by the Angell Refuge and will include a number of talks by J. Leo Hartman, president of the Angell Refuge; Novelist Louis Bromfield, and himself.

He said he would ask Mayor William J. Locke to issue a proclamation declaring the week of Sept. 22 National Dog week in Mansfield and asking residents to give dogs special care during the week.

Atty. Workman has a number of posters, windshield stickers and stamps he will distribute throughout the city and county to persons interested in dogs. The posters bear the slogan: 'Every dog needs a good home."

Mansfield is one of 300 cities in the nation which will observe National Dog week which was started in 1928 by Capt. Will Judy, sportsman and dog lover.

The National Dog Week association has a sevenpoint program which will be publicized during the week of observance, Atty. Workman said. The objectives are:

1. A good home for every dog; 2. Eliminate stray dogs from the streets; 3. Educate dog owners in their obligations both to their dogs and to the general public; 4. Teach kindness and consideration by children and adults towards dogs and other animals; 5. Emphasize the use of the dogs as home protector, faithful companion and useful servant to mankind; 6. Secure fair and just laws for dogs and their owners; 7. Respect the rights of those persons who do not own dogs.

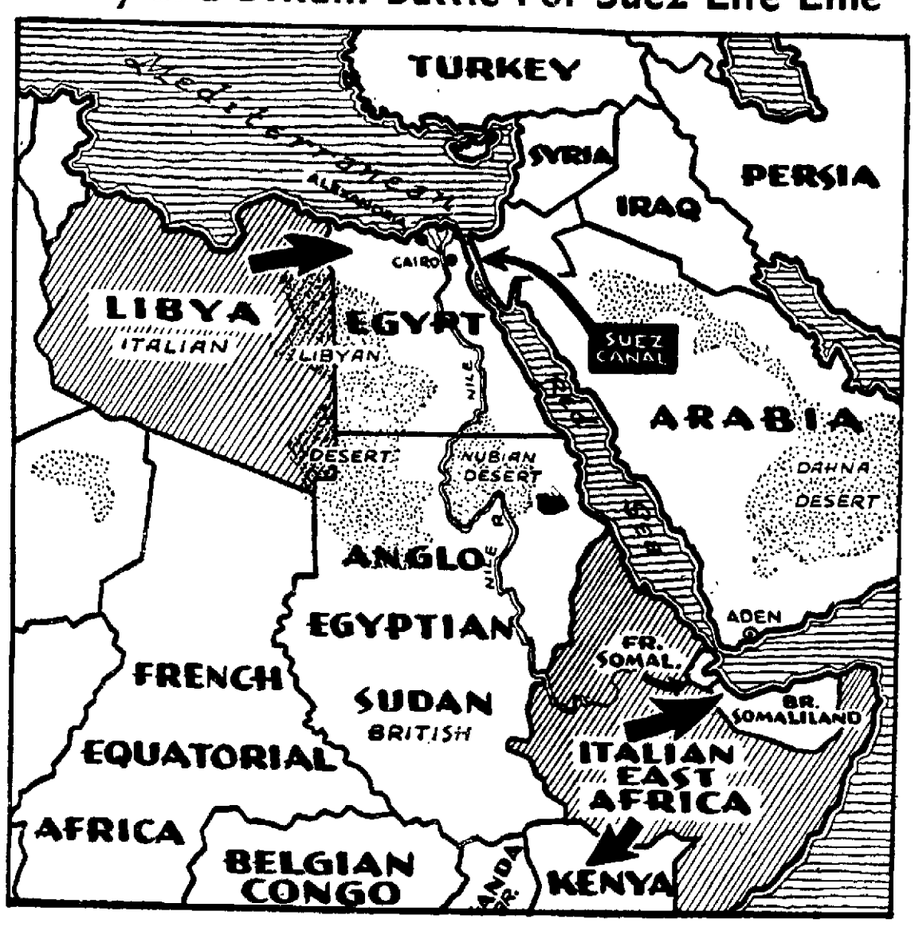
Italy and Britain Battle For Suez Life Line



What may prove one of the decisive campaigns of the war, the Battle for the Suez Canal, is on. Nearly 250,000 Fascist troops have been hurled into the drive for control of Britain's life line to India and the Far East. London claims victory in the first phase of desert warfare along the Libyan-Egyptian frontier, but warns that "some Italian successes" must be expected. Arrows indicate drives launched by Italy's legions.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Kay Kyser's a bad loser. Now that's a mean thing to say about a fellow, but that's what Kay says and he ought to know. That's why Kay's second movie ought to be better than his first, and his third better than his second, and so on.

If the connection isn't clear, let Kay wipe the mud off the windshield and take his own look at the road ahead:

"I'm a bad loser, boy, the worst ever. I want to keep on winning as long as I can. I want to put off the day, the inevitable day for everybody in this game, when I'm out. That's why there's nothing too hard for me and the gang to tackle. That's why we're all tryin' and tryin' and tryin' over again till we're sure it's the best we can do."

Kay and gang are launched on their second picture, "You'll Find Out." The launching was slightly different from the start of their first. "That's Right, You're Wrong." The reason? Well, then, Kay and his gang first hit town to make a movie. Hollywood looked down its nose and said oh-well - well - another - band - leader, huh and let it go at that. Hollywood had seen plenty of band leaders come in swing time and go in a crawl.

* * *

So Kay made his movie, with David Butler directing and producing, and that was that. They had the preview, and some people liked the picture (I wasn't among 'em, although I like Kay and Dave) and some didn't. And the movie went out on the road where the real critics talk with their coin and it cleaned up a gross such a RKO hasn't had in miles of reels—about $1,600,000 on a half-million dollar investment. So you see this time it's different. Kay walks on a red velvet carpet, so to speak.

I don't believe he's fooled, though. He's still that North Ca-lina country boy at heart, and he knows this one has to be better than the last or it's his third strike and out.

* * *

Kay found in Dave Butler a fellow who knows music and pictures and knows Kay Kyser. He found in Dave a fellow who agreed with him that nobody cared about the trials and tribulations of orchestra leaders as film material, and also agreed that nobody wanted to see him making love.

"If I could do it, which I can't, it would make Tyrone Power look silly," he says, "just as silly as Tyrone Power would make me look if he came up and led my band as if he'd been doing it all his life. So we skipped the one about the hard luck and final triumph of the struggling orchestra, and we skipped making a fool of me by having me try to act."

In "You'll Find Out," Kay still is not "acting." A hand-picked cast covers the acting department and includes Peter Lorre, Boris Karloff and Bela Lugosi (playing their horror stuff straight in a mystery comedy), Dennis O'Keefe, Ginny Simms, and Helen Parrish.

So far it doesn't look as if Kay will have to show what a "bad loser" he is.

WON'T SWITCH

Retired Locomotive Engineer Gets Self Steam Auto.

Wanting to travel after all his years in a locomotive cab, he decided he knew more about steam than gasoline. So he looked all over the country before finding a 19-year-old steamer automobile. For Young, it "ticks like a watch."

CCC ENROLLEES BEING ACCEPTED

Enrollment is being received at the Richland county chapter headquarters of the American Red Cross, this week, for the Civilian Conservation Corps, according to Mrs. Gertrude B. English, executive secretary. All eligible veterans, who desire to enroll and who have not filed applications, should do so as early as possible.

Enrollment will be made without regard to public relief requirements or certifications by relief agencies. This is the quarterly enrollment period, and is usually conducted in October.

Usual eligibility requirements are in effect, including the restriction prohibiting re-enrollment within six months from date of discharge from a previous enrollment. Those veterans who have received an administrative or dishonorable discharge from a previous enrollment are not eligible for re-enrollment. The veterans selected must be unemployed and in need of employment.

RESTRICTIONS

BALBOA, Canal Zone —(INS)— The irony of photo restrictions in the vital Panama Canal Zone is the subject of considerable humorous comment by tourists. Restrictions have become so rigid that practically no section of the Zone can be photographed. However, persons desiring photographs may purchase unrestricted pictures of unrestricted Canal areas, all photos made by a German cameraman, from stores in the Republic of Panama and from the United States government operated hotels in the Zone.

FINDS SALMON

VICTORIA, B. C.—(INS)—When Edward Brown, an Indian, ripped open a huge shark he caught on a salmon-fishing expedition he found a whole 40-pound spring salmon, largest taken in Victoria waters in years.

NEW COLLEGE PREXY TAKES ON TOUGH JOB

Must Bring Alfred Holbrook Back to Standard For School Opening.

MANCHESTER, O. — (AP) — There are a lot of persons who'll regard Dr. Norborne Crowell, new president of Alfred Holbrook college, as a miracle man if he can steer that foundering ship of learning back to a prescribed course in the few days alloted him before classes begin.

Crowell, a 49-year-old World war veteran, was named president Sept. 3 to succeed Dr. H. E. Cunningham, ousted when Holbrook lost its accredited rating early this summer. From Des Moines, Ia., he holds degrees from Drake, Princeton and Cornell universities but is no stranger in Ohio where he was athletic director at Hiram college and teachers' training director at Mt. Union college.

A "read 'em and weep" reaction would be normal for any group of college trustees who received a work order as big as E. N. Dietrich, state director of education, handed the little Manchester Teachers' Training school Aug. 29.

But the trustees have announced that the fall term will open Sept. 23, and a football schedule has been arranged.

That means that Alfred Holbrook expects to satisfy Dietrich's demands in the unbelievably short space of three weeks, because without the state department's recognition as a degree-granting institution, there'd be slight hope of enrolling students.

In dropping Holbrook from the accredited standing, Dietrich said that "the college had not been able to meet any of the specific requirements laid down five years previously" and "was even slipping backward."

1. Minimum salaries of approximately $1,500 a year for all teachers, who in no instance should carry more than 18 hours of classes a week.

2. Master's degrees with some public school experience for all professors and instructors and doctor's degrees or at least three years of graduate work for all department heads.

3. Addition of $5,000 worth of modern books and references to the library and employment of a librarian with a bachelor of library science degree.

4. Ten thousand dollars for science laboratories' exquipment to bring physics, chemistry and geology departments up to the bare minimum now met only by the biology department.

5. Guaranteed income of at least 4 per cent from invested endowment of not less than $250,000 to supplement student fees and exclusive of estate notes, pledges, and subscriptions for current operating expenses.

6. Improvement of heating and sanitation with toilet facilities to satisfy standards of the state division of workshops and factories.

7. Curriculum fully meeting state requirements as to courses and practice teaching.

This constitutes a sizeable job for an institution which, in Dietrich's words, "must start from the very beginning."

SCHOOL FIRE

TOKYO, Japan—(INS)—One way not to fail in your scholastic examinations is to set fire to the school. That is what Miss Ginjin Sai, a Korean girl student of the Kyoritsu Women's Medical College here, did. Police investigation finally linked her with the fire, however, and she confessed.

School Now for Film Cinderella

Screen career of Betty Brewer, 13-year-old Cinderella girl, is interrupted for a few hours by some schooling in New York. Betty, who six months ago was singing for pennies in front of Hollywood theaters, is in New York on a visit but must continue her school studies with a private tutor. The story of Betty began when she and her family trekked west from their farm in the Missouri dust bowl.

RARE EDITION

Paper Published in 1859 Was 'Wonder of Age.'

PITTSFIELD, Mass. — (U.P.) — Luigi Bearzi has just learned that a newspaper he found in a dump heap several years ago is a collector's item.

When the American House was closing, Bearzi explored the junk piled outside its back door and found a copy of the "Constellation"—described by its editor as "The Great Wonder of the Age. The Masterdon of Newspapers. Published Once in 100 Years."

The paper is, when opened, almost 6 feet by 8 feet. It was published July 4, 1859, by George Roberts of Boston. Only one edition was printed, and of that edition only 16 copies besides Bearzi's are known to exist.
